RAIL UNIONS VOTING STRIKE

Dissolution of Labor Board and Restoration of Wages Where They Were Before Cuts Alone Might Avert Walkout, Say Leaders.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Conventional Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 16.—Labor, represented in the American Federation of Labor convention here, today accepted as inevitable a strike of union railroad employees some time in July.

Already railroad workers throughout the country have speeded up the casting of the strike vote. Early returns indicate an overwhelming majority in favor of the strike, says B. M. Jewell, head of the railway employees' department of the American Federation of Labor and other rail union heads.

Doubt, which has existed among many delegates in convention attendance, today stood brushed aside by this declaration, and the assertion that a strike appears the only means of combating the railroad labor board's wage cuts.

Highest officials in the labor movement in the country take the admitted position that there can be no peace while the railroad labor board is operative.

Dissolution of the railroad labor board and restoration of wages to the level before the recent slashes, might prove to be the only alternative to a tie-up, leaders assert. While union officials declare they are maintaining a "hands off" policy, so far as influencing the coming vote is concerned, this is their publicly-admitted stand.

"The railroad board has made a blunder so serious as to threaten the welfare of hundreds of thousands of railway employees and their families. We must act to correct this blunder before society suffers from the results."

"We will, therefore, sanction a strike in case the required majority of our membership vote in favor of taking this step in defense of their families."

The contemplated strike, they contend, becomes a necessary move for "self preservation."

NO. 6 WINS PUBLIC SCHOOL CHAMPIONSHIP

No. 6 School defeated No. 3 School Thursday afternoon at Canfield Park thereby winning the championship of the Public School Baseball League.

No. 6 won the first two games in the championship series, making a third game unnecessary.

No. 6 secured an early lead and at the end of the game had defeated No. 3 by the score of 9 to 1.

Alton Roosa, the star pitcher for No. 6, not only held No. 3 at the bat, but also starred at the bat. He knocked two home runs and was responsible for driving in of five runs.

Score by innings:

No. 3.....0 0 0 1 0—1
No. 6.....2 4 3 0 x—9

Batteries: No. 3, Smith, Stokes and Mufson. No. 6, Roosa and Embre.

HARDING WINS HOUSE VICTORY

Ship Subsidy Bill Favorably Reported, Committee Splitting 9 to 4 on Straight Party Lines—No Dry Ship Provision.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Washington, June 16.—The house merchant marine committee this afternoon voted to make a favorable report to the house on the administration's subsidy bill, thereby complying with the demand of President Harding for prompt action on the legislation.

In the form finally agreed upon by the committee for presentation to the house, the ship subsidy bill will contain no provision prohibiting the sale of liquor on vessels operated by the United States Shipping Board.

The vote was nine to four to report the bill, the committee splitting on straight party lines.

ELOPERS HELD FOR GRAND JURY

WARD PLEADS NOT GUILTY

Rich Youth's Manner Undergoes Complete Change As He Is Arraigned—Very Pale and Nervous and Lacks Old Smile—Not Admitted to Bail.

By Telegram to The Freeman.

White Plains, N. Y., June 16.—Walter S. Ward, son of the millionaire head of the Ward Baking Company, who confessed killing Clarence Peters, an ex-sailor, because, he asserted, Peters and two others were blackmailing him, this afternoon pleaded not guilty to the indictment for murder returned against him by the Westchester county grand jury yesterday.

Ward was arraigned before Supreme Court Justice Joseph Morschauer to plead to the indictment. It charged him with murder in the first degree.

After the indictment had been read, Allan R. Campbell, of counsel for the Ward family, asked for an immediate trial. This was denied by Justice Morschauer.

Ward was obviously nervous. His lips twitched and his hands shook nervously. His face was drawn and he appeared to be in ill health. His old debonair smile had disappeared completely.

Justice Morschauer refused to admit Ward to bail. The defendant will have to remain in the Westchester county jail until his case goes to trial.

JUDGES DISCUSS CHILD COURT LAW

County Judges of State Also Takes Steps to Form Permanent Organization—Governor Greets Them.

Judge Joseph M. Fowler was in Albany on Thursday and attended a meeting of the county judges of the state, who decided to effect a permanent organization, and was chairman of the temporary organization.

The meeting of the judges was held in the senate chamber for the purpose of discussing the workings of the Walton juvenile court law which was enacted at the last session of the legislature.

The resolution to form a permanent organization of the county judges was introduced by Judge Lawrence B. McKelvey of Saratoga county. A committee is to be appointed within a few days to arrange for a permanent organization.

How the juvenile court has worked out in practice was explained by County Judge Horace W. Fitch of Canandaigua, Ontario county, where such a court has been in existence for some time. An address also was made by County Judge William P. Bleakley of Westchester county.

Governor Miller, who left Albany on Thursday with his family for Lake George, entered the senate chamber before his departure to welcome the jurists.

Harvard Crew Picked.

By Telegram to The Freeman.
Harvard Crew Quarters, Red Top, Conn., June 16.—Brown's varsity eight became the first Harvard varsity today by defeating Amory's eight in the four-mile time trial by the remarkably fast time of 21:19 in an up-stream race.

MISSING MAN FOUND DROWNED

Body Recovered From Rondout Creek Thursday Afternoon—Michael Holohan of Newburgh Had Been Missing From Coal Barge Since Monday.

Michael Holohan of Newburgh, who had been missing from his coal barge in the Rondout creek since Monday, was found drowned about 3 o'clock Thursday afternoon. The supposition is that he fell overboard some time Monday evening.

The dead man was born in Kingston sixty years ago and had been a boatman for many years. He was employed on one of the transfer barges of the North River Coal Company. The body was found floating in the Rondout creek near Derrenbacher's Corner Thursday afternoon and was taken from the water and Coroner W. Norman Conner notified.

Later the body was turned over to Undertaker James M. Murphy, and will be taken to Newburgh where a high Mass of requiem will be offered for the repose of his soul Saturday morning at 10 o'clock in St. Patrick's Church, that city. Interment will be in the family plot in Calvary cemetery, Newburgh.

Mr. Holohan was a son of the late Edward and Hanora Durkin Holohan of this city. He is survived by one sister, Mrs. Catherine Groesch of Hoboken, N. J., who was notified of the finding of her brother's body and immediately came to Kingston to make arrangements for the funeral.

GOVERNOR'S DAUGHTER TO RACE MRS. WEBB

All Will Be Mounted on Mules at Dutchess Fair.

The Misses Marion and Margaret Miller, daughters of Governor and Mrs. Miller, will take part in the annual mule race of the Dutchess county fair at Rhinebeck in September. Mrs. J. Griswold Webb, wife of Assemblyman Webb, will also contest.

The race will take place on Governor's Day, September 1, when Governor Miller and staff will be at the fair. When Mrs. Webb was referred to at Albany as the champion mule driver the Misses Miller overheard it and challenged Mrs. Webb to a race. The latter has defeated Mrs. Vincent Astor, Mrs. Johnston Redmond and Mrs. Theodore Roosevelt, Jr.

SCHOLARS WROTE WELL ABOUT POSTAL SERVICE

Postmaster DeWitt has received a letter expressing the gratification of Acting First Assistant Postmaster General Corry for the good results obtained from his talks to the students of the part time school at School No. 2, Miss Grace Holmes, director, concerning the postal service. Miss Holmes wrote the department a letter of commendation and the postmaster is requested to ask her to thank the students who wrote such intelligent letters giving their views on the postal service.

Violates Saugerties' Traffic.

Lee Cornell of Saugerties parked his car on the wrong side of Main street, Saugerties, Wednesday evening and Officer John Lavelle served him with a summons to appear in court. Cornell left $3 with the police, pending his appearance in court Thursday afternoon.

FINANCE AND BUILDING PLANS WELL UNDER WAY

OPTION ON MOST DESIRABLE SITE IN CITY PRACTICALLY AGREED ON AFTER LONG AND DELICATE NEGOTIATIONS FOSTERED BY A COMMITTEE BROUGHT TOGETHER BY CHAMBER OF COMMERCE—IMPROVEMENT RANKING WITH THE RONDOUT CREEK BRIDGE WILL BE ASSURED BY LOCAL COMMITTEE SECURING INVESTMENT OF $150,000 IN PREFERRED STOCK.

After many months that have been spent in discussion and planning by residents of Ulster county and New York city, and weeks of negotiation of the most careful character, The Freeman is able to announce that an option has been obtained for the sale of the General George H. Sharpe property at the corner of Albany and Clinton avenues as the site of a new $750,000 hotel for which plans, both for the financing and the actual construction, are well under way, and that among those who are interested in the project is Oscar Tschirky, the world famous "Oscar" of the Waldorf-Astoria Hotel, New York city. The exercising of the option is dependent on some minor changes which, it is expected, will be agreed on in a few days, when the project will go forward without delay.

One of Kingston's greatest needs—greater hotel accommodations—and the dream which long has been cherished—the erection of a big hotel on the most ideal site that any city in the state of New York can provide—is finally to be met and in such a way that Kingston is in a fair way soon to become known as the town with the best hotel accommodations of any place in the entire state.

For many years—so many years, in fact, that the oldest residents can remember the talk—the ideal site for a hotel in Kingston has been acknowledged to be the property at the corner of Albany and Clinton avenues, owned by the heirs of the late General George H. Sharpe. The general during his lifetime occupied the house all the time and his heirs repeatedly have refused to sell.

More than a year ago a committee of representative citizens was brought together by the Chamber of Commerce for the purpose of securing better hotel accommodations for Kingston and it possible to secure them on the ideal site—the Sharpe property. The general committee having the matter under consideration appointed a sub-committee consisting of Judge Joseph M. Fowler, the then president of the Chamber of Commerce, who was appointed chairman; Dr. Mark O'Meara, George Burgevin, Sidney D. M. Hudson and Arthur J. Burns.

The committee urged on Judge Severn B. Sharpe, representing the heirs, the service to the city which would be rendered by the adoption of the Sharpe property to the purposes proposed, and finally an option was obtained a few weeks ago at a fair price, conditioned on the property being used for that particular purpose, with a building suitable to the site and which would be a credit to the city.

When it became known that the committee had obtained the option, various corporations and individuals whose specialty is the construction and management of hotels made overtures and offered plans of finance for the enterprise because it was generally and widely recognized that the hotel project on the Sharpe site offered unusual opportunities as a business venture.

The committee turned, however, for advice to Oscar Tschirky, for many years the manager of The Waldorf-Astoria in New York City and who without doubt is the most famous hotel man in the world. Mr. Tschirky's international reputation as a hotel manager is of the highest rank, and hundreds of thousands of people who may not know Oscar Tschirky at once recognize the name of "Oscar."

Mr. Tschirky is himself an Ulster county man, owning one of the largest farms in the county near the village of New Paltz, on the New Paltz-

he authorized, together with 2,250 shares of common stock with no par value. With each two shares of preferred stock will be issued one share of common stock.

The local committee must find purchasers for $150,000 of the preferred stock. The remainder of the moneys required will be secured by the New York associates. The preferred stock which is to be sold locally ought to sell readily, for aside from the matter of local pride and ownership of a local investment of this character, the business possibilities under the plan should appeal to the investor. Hotels financed in this way seem to have greater possibilities than under any other plan.

The inability of many tourists for the past two years to secure hotel accommodations in Kingston has resulted in greater interest in the hotel project on the Sharpe site than would be possible in any other city under any other circumstances and with any other conditions than those which will obtain with the new hotel.

Few hotel sites in the cities of America have so magnificent a site as that which Kingston's new hotel will occupy, on a lot ample to take care of every need, opposite a beautiful city park, with a view of the Catskill Mountains unsurpassed by any other location on which a hotel could well be erected. No tourist passes through Kingston either on his way to or from the Catskill Mountains without passing the Sharpe property, the site of the new hotel; all traffic through Kingston both north and south passes the place. The possibilities of development of Kingston with the opening of the Rondout Creek Bridge and the construction of the new $750,000 hotel under the circumstances which govern the construction of this hotel seem big, but to the outsider the possibilities are no bigger than the probabilities.

CLASS HONORS FOR MISS MILDRED DU BOIS

She and Brother Graduate at Memphis.

The "Commercial Appeal" of Memphis, Tenn., in describing the presentation of diplomas to graduates of Central High School, that city, says:

Double honors were conferred upon Miss Mildred DuBois, valedictorian, at the height of the exercises when she was presented by Miss Anna I. Mahler, assistant high school principal, with the Elizabeth Bowdoin medal for making the highest record in the twelfth grade. This was in addition to her highest record for the four years as a high school student. The winning of this medal was a surprise to Miss DuBois, as well as the entire class, it being the custom of the faculty to withhold announcement of the winner each year until the commencement exercises.

In her valedictory address, Miss DuBois, who made a record of 96.15 per cent for the entire high school course, touched upon world conditions, which the class will have to face, declaring that every one would begin with determination and a smile to win life's battle.

Charles DuBois, Mildred's brother, graduated with her. They with their parents and sister, were former residents of Kingston and Lake Katrine and are grandchildren of Charles M. DuBois, of No. 7 Lindsay avenue.

MENDELSSOHN CLUB IN "MUSICAL AMERICA"

In the place of honor, on the front page of the latest issue of Musical America magazine, appears a large size portrait of Helena Marsh, contralto, who recently entertained the guests of The Mendelssohn Club here at their annual concert. A short sketch of her career accompanies Miss Marsh's portrait. On another page of the same magazine appears a brief review of The Mendelssohn Club concert.

Republicans Designate Webb.

At Poughkeepsie, Thursday, Assemblyman J. Griswold Webb was designated by the Dutchess county Republican committee for the nomination for state senator to succeed James E. Towner, who has served nine years and has refused to accept the designation. The committee adopted a resolution approving Governor Miller's administration.

The Parties Innocent.

The parties subpoenaed in the "John Doe" proceedings held Wednesday afternoon to ascertain if they knew anything about the Saugerties High School robbery, were found to be entirely innocent, and to know nothing regarding it whatever. It is still held, however, that the robbery was an inside job.

TAME WILD ANIMALS BECOME A NUISANCE

One Case of a Washington Farmer Thrown Out of Court Under Game Laws.

Curiously, wild animals of many kinds in certain parts of this state have become so extremely tame as to be a general nuisance.

Some elk introduced into the Sultan basin from Yellowstone park a few years ago have multiplied, but disdain to lead the wild free life of the hills. They break down fences to get at hay stacks and trample gardens and fields of Spokane farmers. Over-taken by night, these elk that a few years ago kept from man's sight lie down and chew the cud with domestic cattle or horses. A suit brought by one farmer for damages was thrown out of court.

The various kinds of pheasants freed in western Washington have refused to leave the barnyards of many ranchers and even roost with the domestic chickens, while the farmer, under penalty of breaking the game laws, must not harm the birds out of season.

A most remarkable illustration of animal tameness seen in this state is that of sea lions on Bridge's Island below Cape Flattery. A habit of the lightkeeper was to throw all kitchen waste onto the rocks where the lions basked. Soon regularly three bulls and some young cubs kept vigil waiting for the scraps. Now the zealous sea lions have taken possession of the keeper and his house. He is forced to keep all doors shut, else the lions amble into the rooms and tip over everything in their quest for bacon or bread.

Near Husum a motherless bear cub appeared last spring at a farm house, and remained until full grown in the fall, growing very gentle and playful. In October he went away, but has returned this spring with another and larger female bear, which is suspected of having a pair of cubs in the nearby woods. She carries food there twice each day.

A porcupine comes at lunch time into a schoolhouse near Wallula for crumbs that the youngsters throw to it. If not satisfied with the handout the quills bristle and frighten both kids and schoolmarum.

Two white-tailed deer come daily into the garden and lawn of H. R. Raymond, No. 5223 Graham street, Seattle, to nibble clover and lettuce. To shoot them away would destroy their confidence in the garden's owner.

RUSH FOR GOLD BRINGS MANY

Oatman, Ariz., Is Much Like a Temporary War Town.

EX-SOLDIERS FLOCK TO PLACE

Take to Diamond Drilling With as Much Facility as They Did to Pumping a Machine Gun in France—Many of the Veterans Are Prospecting on Their Own—Plan, When They Make Their Pile, to Reclaim Land in Boulder Dam Country.

Every generation has its gold rush. In '49 they came to Sacramento. In the '80s and '90s to Leadville and Cripple Creek. In 1898 to 1900 fortune hunters swarmed to the Klondike. In 1905-07 mining activity in Goldfield, Tonopah and other nearby mining centers was at its height.

The latest gold rush is at Oatman, Ariz., where gold ore running $54,000 to the ton was recently opened up.

Hundreds of ex-soldiers, who have found it necessary to come to a dry climate as a result of having been gassed in the war, are flocking into Oatman, where the American Legion is caring for them and doing what it can to secure them employment at work suited to their capacities. Plans are going forward here to build a big hospital for disabled soldiers high up in the gold-bearing mountains. The location of this hospital already has been taken up with Governor Thomas E. Campbell of Arizona, who will soon visit Oatman to discuss the hospital project.

Just now Oatman has a familiar aspect to these ex-soldiers, for it resembles a town on the western front. Dynamite detonations keep the ground in a constant tremble and the all-night-long booming and blasting below ground sound familiar in an old soldier's ears.

Like Temporary War Place.

The town itself resembles a temporary war town. Ypres now has its makeshift wooden hotels, its shacks made of gasoline tins and stray field stones, its tents. And so has Oatman. "Over there" they are still blowing up piles of stray shells, while here, below ground, they are dynamiting down gold ore with which to aid the work of reconstruction in Europe.

Uncle Sam made a special request that the gold mines of Oatman be kept going during the war—and Oatman went over the top in 100 per cent fashion. It mined gold when labor costs and taxes made it a losing game. But now the soldiers have returned and in the big after-war heira of Young America westward the Oatman gold fields are getting their share of lads who served overseas.

These ex-soldiers take to diamond drilling with as much facility as they did to pumping a machine gun up around Montfaucon. And they handle the dangerous detonating caps used in firing the powder-filled holes with as much freedom as they touched off hand-made grenades in the trenches.

Many Veterans Prospecting.

Many of the veterans are prospecting on their own. They come to Oatman in flivvers, remove their engines and attach them to diamond drills which they have either rented or purchased, and with a "rat-a-tat-tat" not unlike the rattle of a machine gun, they sink their diamond studded drills into the earth in the search for a gold bearing quartz vein. Several of the lads have hit it rich, some are "on their uppers," but all are having a good time.

Many of them plan to make their pile in Oatman and then go up to the country below the gigantic national dam which is to be built by the government in Boulder Canyon. One colony of ex-soldiers plans to lay out thousands of acres which is now the abiding place of cactus, rattlesnakes and barren soil, but which, when the Boulder Canyon dam is opened, will be one of the richest districts in the Southwest. This land already is rising in value in anticipation of its increased worth when irrigation ditches will be running through it.

MAGNA CHARTA HOLDS OWN

American Visitors All Anxious to See It in British Museum.

After 700 years Magna Charta remains the most popular British manuscript.

Last year 14,000 persons went to the British museum to see it. Americans invariably ask to view the famous charter which insures Englishmen their rights, according to the museum custodians, but other foreigners take more interest in the Papal Bull, which is displayed next to it.

Heavy green blinds are kept over the precious parchment to exclude the full light rays and thus prevent deterioration, but are lifted to show the charter to admiring pilgrims.

Check Comes Back.

That a check put into circulation can liquidate a number of debts is shown by the following incident related by a merchant of Madison, S. D. A Madison resident gave a creditor an $11 check to pay his account. This man turned the check in on account to a creditor, who in turn used it to pay off a debt; and the fourth man turned it back to the writer of the check on a bill he owed him. The check thus paid $44 worth of debts in all.

Rubber Gloves.

Rubber gloves will last much longer with proper care. After wearing them, wash out and thoroughly dry with a soft cloth. If the hands perspire, dust talcum inside the gloves. As soon as you notice a tear, patch it with adhesive.

Welsh Rarebit

Here is a Real Recipe.

*Serve it Tonight.

- 1 Tablespoon butter
- 1/2 Pound soft mild cheese, cut in small pieces.
- 1/4 Teaspoon salt
- 1/4 Teaspoon mustard
- Few grains cayenne
- 1/2 Cup Utica Club Pilsener.
- 1 Egg.

Put butter in chafin dish, and when melted, add cheese and seasonings, as cheese melts add pilsener gradually, while stirring constantly, then egg slightly beaten.

Serve on crackers or bread toasted on one side, rarebit being poured over the untoasted side.

Utica Club Pilsener must be used to get the desired flavor. A glassful served with the rarebit is very delicious, appetizing and healthful.

Case of 24 bottles costs only $1.75 plus $1.00 deposit which is refunded on return of the empties. All grocers sell it. Kramer & Sigel, 70 Chambers St., Rndout, are distributors. Phone 1266 or 1405-R.

ROOSTER HELPS RAIDERS

Whisky Found Under Setting Hens When He Crowed.

In a raid conducted at the hotel of James A. Daugherty in Breckenridge, Pa., the other day by Federal Prohibition agents whisky was found under setting hens in two coops in the rear of the hotel. Three other hotels were visited and contraband liquors found in two.

The agents had visited two other hotels when they arrived at the one conducted by Daugherty. The building then was searched from basement to the roof and two of the agents went to the rear of the building, accompanied by Daugherty, who willingly opened the garage doors. No liquor, however, was found.

As the agents were about to give up the search, a rooster crowed and one of the officers said that the chicken coop should be searched. The liquor was found.

Removing Splinters.

Sometimes a splinter gets under the nail so solidly that it is difficult to draw out. If a cold water bandage is put around the top of the finger and kept wet and cold it will in time loosen the splinter and minimize the danger of festering.

There are all kinds of cheap printing—but none of it is really cheap—at least not on a basis of value. Cheap stuff is usually worth almost what it costs. Our printing isn't the cheapest you can get, but it's as good as the best.

NO DIFFERENCE IN DIRT.

In advertising their meeting to protest against Kingston city's first steps to protect our drinking water from contamination, residents of Woodstock posted the slogan, "No Swimming, No Woodstock."

Such a slogan is most unusual. Since when has swimming become such a vital part of the daily life of Woodstock that Woodstock will die if deprived of the "right" to swim in Kingston's drinking water? Since when have piscatorial pursuits become essential to the life of the village? When did the Woodstock natives and recent residents begin to develop fins and where do they wear them? Since when has Woodstock become the rival of Cape Cod, Narragansett, Asbury Park, Ocean Grove, Atlantic City, Coney Island, Daytona and Miami?

Woodstock is a beautiful little village in the mountains. It holds itself out as a mountain resort. Some residents seek boarders by advertising swimming as an attraction. The swimming they advertise must be carried on in Kingston's drinking water. But evidently it is not the boarders' swimming that is necessary to prevent Woodstock from giving up the ghost. Other mountain towns have become prosperous as summer resorts although having hardly more than enough water to supply ordinary needs. So it is the dirt of the native son which must be shed in Kingston's drinking water to preserve the village and town. Do they use soap when they swim?

There is no difference in the dirt that is washed into Kingston's drinking water from the bodies of natives or from those of summer boarders, although that from the bodies of some of the more temperamental of the boarders may be more highly scented and mixed with more cosmetics.

But it is dirt just the same, and some of the Woodstock people want us to drink it. They urge that the dirt will be filtered out before it reaches us, and so the drinking water will be harmless. Would they set such water before their boarders? Would they drink it themselves? Anyway, why should we be compelled to drink it, to cook with it, to bathe in it?

Laws and health regulations exist for the protection of our citizens. They can be invoked by our board of water commissioners and that action can be taken without delay. Each day's swimming makes the water dirtier.

President Harding has sent to Congress an estimate for a deficiency appropriation of over $28,000,000 for refunding income taxes illegally collected. This is a particularly aggravating holdover from the Wilson administration. After the Republicans have lowered the tax burden and cut expenditures to the bone to make them fit the decreased revenue, along comes a court decision to the effect that the Democrats collected millions of dollars in income taxes without warrant of law. Of course there is nothing to do but pay the refunds, regardless of how big a dent it may make in the annual budget. The former administration, of course, got the benefit of the illegal receipts and spent the money. Now the Republicans are not only deprived of further taxes from the same source, but must pay back the money taken in by their predecessors in office. The Republican economy program gets hit both going and coming.

Senator James E. Watson of Indiana is receiving numerous congratulations on his speech covering the activities of foreign diplomats in attempting to influence the course of our legislation. His remarks have had an immediate effect among the foreign delegation at Washington. It is understood that Ambassador Geddes, to whose recent speeches Senator Watson specifically referred, has visited Secretary Hughes in an attempt to show that he did not violate international courtesy in his public addresses. The representatives from other countries are similarly concerned, and there is every reason to believe that discretion will govern their future utterances.

Senator Pepper unexpectedly describes the Senate as a body made up of "unhatched and untrained."

sovereignty States." That is precisely what Fisher Ames said in order to allay the fear that in ratifying the Constitution of 1787 and joining the Union Massachusetts would lose or impair its sovereignty. There was point in the characterization 125 years ago, but where is State sovereignty now?

A report just made public by Commissioner Sisson proves this will be a banner year for road construction, and before the season closes all records of the highway department for mileage completed will be broken. This is what was expected from a Republican administration.

Burroughs Nature Club Notes

By ROBERTSON HUFFMAN, CO.

What do you want to know about Nature Subjects? Send any questions of general interest to the Nature Notes Department of this paper, enclosing a self-addressed and stamped envelope for reply.

Can You Answer These Questions?

1. Where can I get reliable reading on how to prune trees?
2. Will hot weather kill roads?
3. Have we any wild pigeons that look like the passenger pigeons?

Answers in Tomorrow's Nature Notes.

Answers To Previous Questions.

1. Do any birds turn white in winter the way ermines do?

Yes, the white-tailed ptarmigan is an example, turning snow white. The so-called snow-flake, or snow bunting, Passerina nivalis, turns partly white, but keeps some brownish markings on wings, tail, head, and breast. These really serve as a camouflage, appearing, against the white of the snow, like bits of dead leaf, or what not, and letting the outline of the bird disappear against the background.

2. Do forest fires hurt the ground?

Eventually, yes, though charred areas where fire has not been very severe, often show rich growth later of small vegetation. Where severe fire has raged the ground may become barren, with all the seed deposits in the earth burnt and unable to germinate. Lacking a mat of vegetation to hold the dirt together, it washes away in heavy rains, and leaves a hard surface, unfavorable for new seeds that might be dropped on it by wind or the birds.

3. Do baby pronghorns have horns?

Not at birth, of course. They are born in spring, and by midsummer grow small cones on the forehead, but these hardly show, being covered by the hair. Even by autumn the "horns" are only about half an inch high. They are shed early in winter, but the knobs on the forehead remain and immediately begin reforming horny caps which grow for a year, reaching about six inches, but with no prong. About the third winter of the young buck's life the first prong is formed, but the full horn does not reach full size until after several annual sheddings.

WHY

Minutes and Hours Came to Be Computed at Sixty

"Sixty seconds make a minute, 60 minutes make an hour." You used to say that as often as you did "10 mills make a cent, 10 cents make a dime and 10 dimes make a dollar."

It is believed, in fact, certain learned men have said it has been proved that the scheme of dividing the hour into 60 parts and the minute into 60 parts was invented by the ancient Babylonians long centuries before the Christian era. It is one of the ways of counting time which has gone unchanged during the past 5,000 or 10,000 years.

Along with the decimal system in ancient Babylon there was the sexagesimal system based upon the count by sixties and originating in the discovery that there is no number which has so many divisions as 60, for it can be divided without a remainder by 2, 3, 4, 5, 6, 10, 12, 15, 20 and 30.

Babylonians divided the sun's path into 24 parangs, a parang being about four and a half miles. The astronomers of that time in Babylon compared the progress of the sun during one hour to the progress that would be made by a good walker in the same length of time, each going about one parang, or four and one-half miles. Thus the whole course of the sun, so the wise astronomers of Babylon thought, was 24 parangs or 300 degrees or 24 hours, and each parang or hour was divided into 60 parts, which we call minutes.

The story is that Hipparchus, the Greek philosopher, who lived a century and a half before Christ, introduced the Babylonian hour into Europe and we have counted the time of day in seconds, minutes and hours ever since.

MATTER OF SELF-PROTECTION

Why Signatures in the Form of a "Round Robin" Were at One Time Advisable.

The most generally accepted belief is that the practice of signing a protest or petition in a circle (now known as a "round robin") originated in France, where, as protests from subordinates were regarded by government officials as little less than mutiny, there was a natural desire to keep the order of signing secret.

The most noted "Round Robin" in the English language is probably one that originated at a dinner in the house of Sir Joshua Reynolds. Among those attending were Edmund Burke, Edward Gibbon and others famous in the world of letters, all of whom were friends or acquaintances of Oliver Goldsmith.

The epitaph written for the poet by Doctor Johnson became a topic of discussion, and various changes were suggested. These, it was agreed, should be submitted for the doctor's consideration. When the question arose as to who should propose them to him it was suggested that a "round robin" was the best means of solving the difficulty. Despite his fiery disposition, Doctor Johnson, it is said, accepted the "round robin" in the spirit in which it was intended.

Why Gloves Were Important.

In 1083, when the earl of Shrewsbury promised to build an abbey at Shrewsbury, he publicly laid his glove upon the altar of the monastery church in token of his sincerity. In 1574 the queen of Navarre hesitated about going on a visit to Paris, but decided to go when the king of France sent her a pair of gloves. When she was swept away by the events leading up to the massacre of St. Bartholomew, it was considered an act of the blackest treachery, as gloves had been sent to reassure her. As men became more enlightened and learned to read and write, signing one's name to a promise took the place of all this sort of thing. But there is one curious survival even now. Not many annual fairs are held nowadays, but when they are, it is no unusual thing to see a great glove publicly exhibited. This is a token that the king has granted a license for the fair to be held and so long as it lasts the glove remains, where everybody can see it.—Christian Science Monitor.

Why Dough Is Kneaded.

If bread should be baked out of un-kneaded dough, or without yeast or baking-powder, it would turn into a hard, indigestible mass. Kneading makes bread or cake spongy in structure—that is, full of holes; for the process entraps particles of air, which expand during baking and puff up the dough. In the case of baking-powder, the addition of water causes the tartaric acid in the powder to act on the baking soda (sodium acid carbonate) to generate bubbles of carbon dioxide inside the dough. These, too, expand upon baking, filling the cake with numerous holes. The yeast, as it lives and grows in the dough, gives off carbon dioxide. The result on the dough is the same as before.—Popular Science Monthly.

Why One Should Read Lamb.

So you ask me again why you should read Lamb, and I answer: first, because he has always something to say and conveys his thought "without smothering it in blankets"; second, because in antique fancy, quip, oddity, whimsical jest, humor, wit and irony, rare gifts all, he is a supreme master; third, because his limitations and tragedies were, like ours, many, but his courage in facing them, unlike ours, was cheerful and invincible; and, fourth, because he has taken the homely and familiar for his subjects and sheds fresh and beautiful light upon them.—S. F. E. Malt.

Violates Traffic Law.

"While returning to camp one night I walked right into a herd of elephants," states a well known explorer in his memoirs. We have always maintained that all wild animals above the size of a rabbit should carry two head lights and one rear light while traveling after dark.—London Punch.

PLUTARCH.

Plutarch, June 15.—The Children's Day exercises will be held in the church Sunday evening, June 18. The program is in charge of Mrs. Fred Palmatier. Owing to the exercises in the evening, there will not be any service in the afternoon.

The members of the official board will hold an earn a dollar social at the church Wednesday evening, June 28. Each member of the congregation is asked to earn a dollar and come out on Wednesday evening and tell how they earned it. Home made ice cream and cake will be on sale during the evening. Everybody remember the date, Wednesday evening, June 28.

When Mrs. Fisher and daughter, Miss Hazel were returning from New Fair one day last week their horse took fright from an automobile, which was parked near Nick Monzellas and ran away throwing out the occupants, breaking a shaft, running home. The ladies were not hurt much.

William Helms of Clintondale called on friends here Saturday and stayed over Sunday and attended church service. He expects to enter college in the fall and study for the ministry. All wish him success in his field of work. He was a former resident of here.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford McCormick and children spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Robert Palmer of Ohioville.

Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Carroll entertained. Mrs. Mary Hammond of Ohioville, and Miss Mary Bedford of Kingston on Sunday in the afternoon. They enjoyed an auto ride.

Mrs. Peter Campet and daughter, Miss Adele of Astoria, L. I., spent Saturday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Henry McCormick. It is twenty years ago since they have called there. The other daughter Miss Ethel attended the dance and exercise at the Raymond Riordan school at Chodikee Lake on Saturday evening.

Mirza Van Wagenen of Arkville, Delaware county, called on friends here Saturday.

COTTICKILL.

Cottickill, June 15.—The Rev. M. N. Kalenjian, of Three Bridges, N. J., will supply the pulpit of the Cottickill Reformed Church, as a candidate, on Sunday, June 18, at 3 p. m., standard time.

Snyder and Schaefer, the new feed firm in this village, are doing a very nice business.

Painting and repairing properties in this village is the order of the day. The village as a whole is one of the best kept as to neatness and good repair of properties, that can be found in many a mile.

City guests are beginning to arrive in the village, stopping at Echo Lodge, and some at Maple Cottage. Prospects seem good for a successful boarding season.

Mrs. Helen Osterkondt, and George H. Krom are ill at this time. The community hopes for a complete recovery for both.

The N. P. U. and G. C. A. classes of the Reformed Sunday school have purchased an electric stereopticon machine for use in giving illustrated lectures.

Varnishing Airplanes.

It is contended that one feature of the airplane industry is more dangerous to workers than the actual work of flying the finished machines. The indoor varnishing of the linen wings in order to make them waterproof and airtight involves the use of poisons which are often fatal to life under certain conditions. The only safe place in which to do the varnishing appears to be out of doors.

Colloidal Chemistry.

Colloidal chemistry is the chemistry of systems consisting of extremely finely divided material, such as bubbles, drops, grains, filaments and films in a state of suspension in other material. The chemist calls this system a "heterogeneous system consisting of a dispersed phase in a dispersion medium." Colloidal chemistry therefore is a study of extremely finely divided suspensions.

MILK PRODUCERS' PICNIC JUNE 17

It was at the old Borden home plant at Walkkill that condensed milk was first made commercially in this part of the U. S. With the changing years the name of Gail Borden has disappeared from the walls of the plant, and in its place has been painted not the name of a man, but the name of an institution, the Dairymen's League Co-Operative Association, Inc.

The picnic on the 17th of June is the second annual picnic commemorating the establishment of the Dairymen's League name on the old Borden plant. Last year when the picnic was held in the early part of May, over 3,000 men and women attended the first annual picnic. This year it is estimated that over 5,000 will be present. The plans for the picnic are in charge of a general committee of men in the vicinity of Walkkill and Walden. Their work is supplemented by three large committees working in Orange, Ulster and Sullivan counties. The Walden band has been secured to furnish music for the entire day. A large new floor is being laid for dancing in one of the buildings, and a full orchestra will dispense music for all who wish to take part in the dancing. Sandwiches and ice cream will be sold by the ladies of the Walkkill Dairymen's League. The milk, ice cream, cheese and butter all carry the Dairymen's League trademark. Over 200 gallons of ice cream will be shipped from the Auburn plant of the League.

The dairy interests are particularly fortunate in having among their ranks men capable of running high class vaudeville entertainments. One of these men, Hal Eppes, better known as the Singing Milk Producer of Accord, has prepared a little vaudeville sketch which will be featured at the picnic absolutely free. Eppes is an artist at arranging vaudeville performances and one who saw his performance last year cannot fail to remember it and be impressed by it.

The speakers of the day are John I. Armann, Middletown, John T. Brown, Washingtonville, Bruce M. Kilpatrick, treasurer of the Dairymen's League at Ulster, who besides being a good speaker and a good musician, carries an A No. 1 tenor, and who loves to sing. The speaker of the afternoon is Rush Lewis, better known as the Flying Parson, or the Lull Sunday of the Milk World. Lewis is today operating his old farm in Herkimer county, besides doing organization work and speaking for the Dairymen's League. His keen appreciation of the dairy problem through intimate knowledge and experience and his ability to express himself with a human touch, has drawn crowds on all over the milk territory. It was known that Rush Lewis is to speak.

June 17 is a big day in milk history. Everyone dairyman, business man and citizen, are invited to participate in the mammoth picnic at Walkkill.

NEW COMPLAINT AGAINST EXPIRING OF JORDAN

Schenectady Fans Say He Spoiled Game—Other Criticism.

Schenectady, N. Y., June 15, 1922.

Editor, The Freeman, Kingston, N. Y.

Four of my friends and I drove down to your city to see your team play the Philadelphia Colored Giants yesterday.

These teams have had quite a reputation and it should have resulted in a very excellent game, but the poor decisions of your umpire were so very bad that not only the party was disappointed and disgusted but some of your most enthusiastic fans that sat near us seemed to express the same sentiments. It is too bad, for you seem to have a very fine outfit, a good ground, well located and apparently a very excellent team. They seem to be gentlemen and high class players. I believe they could have won comparatively easy without the prejudiced decisions of an umpire.

It must be admitted by all lovers of baseball that this cannot be but detrimental to the game. I can't understand why sports such as baseball even our minor leagues and the high grade semi-professional leagues are not conducted on business principles.

The illustration of lack of carrying out business details. You had a very nice scoreboard erected, which was supposed to give the scores by innings, together with the scores of the Yankees and Giants. It was not used at all. You had a very large crowd present and your team deserves the support of your citizens and with attention to these little details, together with a capable and unprejudiced umpire, you should have a very successful baseball season.

Yours very truly,
OLNEY REDMOND.
P. S. We feel entitled to criticize when we are baseball enthusiasts enough to drive 140 miles to see your team play.

K. H. S. MUST WIN SATURDAY

From Poughkeepsie Or Lose All Chances For This Year's Pennant —Track Meet To Follow Game At Newburgh.

Saturday morning the K. H. S. baseball team will play the Poughkeepsie nine on Roosevelt Recreation Park diamond at Newburgh. The game will begin at 10:30 o'clock. If Kingston wins this game the two teams will play here June 23 or 24 for the championship of the Hudson valley. If Poughkeepsie wins she becomes automatically the holders of the title held for the past two years by K. H. S.

Blair Muller is out of the game at present for the locals, but according to the present tendencies of the ankle which he injured in the Newburgh-Kingston game last Saturday he will be again in the line-up for Saturday. Coach MacIntyre has been speeding the boys up the past week. The following players will make the trip: Caunitz, captain and pitcher; Whiston or Vogt catcher; Vogt, first base; Stumpf, second base; Muller, third base; Bott, shortstop; Charles Howard, left field; Joey Hoffman, center field; Earl McCane, right field.

Then in the afternoon the annual track meet will be held at the same park and will be made up of teams from the following schools: Kingston, Newburgh, Poughkeepsie, and by request, Beacon. The team which will represent K. H. S. on the cinder track this year will be made up of some of the best athletes that the school has ever turned out on the track.

It is evident that a goodly supply of rooters will go down for the game and the meet, since both mean a great deal to the school.

Thursday an inspector from the state physical ability test department was at the school going over the accounts of the late meet held here, with the view in mind of placing Kingston among the "placers" of the state third-class cities. The boys have made an exceptional record, in every branch of the test, and the girls are not far behind. It is acknowledged by the state authorities that Kingston High School ranks first among the cities of the state in physical prowess.

OUR DAILY PATTERN.

A Practical, Attractive Blouse Suit. Pattern 3370 is here illustrated. It is cut in 4 sizes: 8, 10, 12 and 14 years. 12 year size will require 3 1/2 yards of 38 inch material.

Gingham with facings of linen would be nice for this design. Or, taffeta trimmed with satin or foulard. Serge, gabardine, poplin and velveteen, are also attractive.

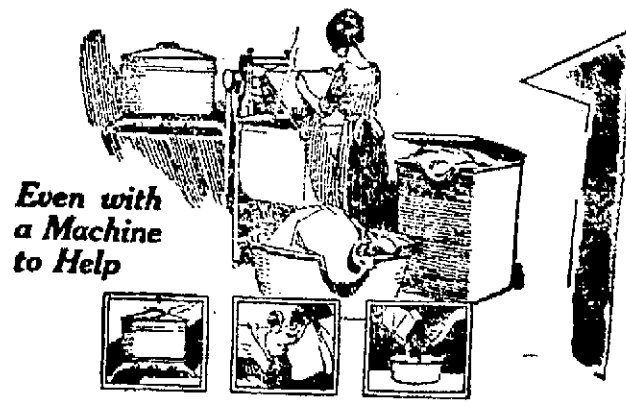

A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 12 cents in coin or stamps by The Freeman. Pattern Department, Rondout, N. Y. Be sure to state the size wanted.

Catalogue Notice.

Send 15c in coin or stamps for our up-to-date spring and summer 1922 catalogue, containing 550 designs of Ladies', Misses' and Children's Patterns, a concise and comprehensive article on dressmaking, also some points for the needle (illustrating 30 of the various, simple stitches), all valuable hints to the home dressmaker.

The streets are bright at night.

The Springs of Art. The great human reservoirs, from which the world draws its masterpieces of art as thoughtlessly as it draws a cup of water from the faucet, are fed by many subterranean springs which flow spontaneously, freely, irresistibly, always giving, joyous to be giving, without price, but not without much cost to the owner.—William Howe Downes.

KINGSTON HOTEL TO CHANGE HANDS

Two New Yorkers Make Agreement to Buy From Mrs. Cronk at Price Said to be $40,000—Promise Improvements.

An agreement was entered into Thursday at the office of William D. & William D. Brinaker, Jr., by Mrs. Frank Cronk for the sale of The Kingston Hotel property on Crown street to Abram Banks and Louis Vigen of New York and if the agreement is carried out, possession will be turned over to them on June 30th.

The Kingston Hotel is one of the oldest hotel properties in this section of the country. In years gone by all the judges and court officials stopped at this hotel and it has been a very popular place for farmers and their families by reason of its being homelike. Mrs. Cronk has had charge of the hotel nearly all the time since her husband's death and has made a great success of it. The bus lines start from there and an entrance from the hotel to the L. B. Van Wagenen store is maintained. The owners say they will make some improvements to the property. It is said the price was $40,000.

Society Notes

Nugent-Smith.

Miss Kathryn M. Smith of 117 Pine Grove avenue, this city, and James W. Nugent of Providence, R. I., were united in marriage this afternoon by the Rev. Joseph G. Cushman pastor of St. Joseph's Church. They were attended by her cousin Miss Millie Anderson of Danbury, Conn., and Dr. Alfred Nugent, brother of the groom, of New York city. After the ceremony a wedding supper was served at the home of the bride following which the happy couple left for a honeymoon trip to Atlantic City. On their return they will make their home in Danbury, Conn., where the groom holds a responsible position with the New York, New Haven and Hartford Railroad.

Conway-Henze.

The marriage of Miss Anna E. Henze to William Conway, both of this city took place Thursday afternoon, at 2:30 o'clock at St. Joseph's Church, the ceremony being performed by the pastor, the Rev. Father Cushman. The bride was charmingly gowned in white crepe satin with Chantilly lace, her tulle veil being caught in cap effect with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of white roses and swansonia. The bride's only attendant was Miss Anne Conway, a sister of the groom and Lawrence Henze, a brother of the bride, acted as best man. The wedding march was played by Miss Rieser, organist of the church. After the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride. The bride and groom left to spend their honeymoon on a tour through the north western part of the state.

Shower For Miss Byers.

The Catskill Daily Mail says: "Miss Hazel Byers was the honor guest Tuesday evening of the Atoka Club at a card party and kitchen shower held at the home of Mrs. Howard E. Muller on Spring street. Miss Byers, who teaches domestic science in the local high school, will marry Wilson Simpkins of New York city, a former resident of Catskill. The six card tables arranged on the lawn were decorated with dainty pink shaded candles and artistic tally cards. The entire lawn was illuminated with pretty Japanese lanterns lighted with electric bulbs. The porch, where refreshments were served, was gay with peonies, mountain laurel and roses, and in each corner a floor lamp shone through the vines. After refreshments had been served the hostess brought forth a tea wagon draped with pink and bearing the gifts of aluminum and pyrex. The first prize at cards was won by Miss Martha Boyne." Miss Byers resides at 58 East Chester street and has a wide circle of friends in this city.

Piles Now Made of Paper.

Piles, for submarine supports are now being made of paper in California, the chief recommendation of which is the fact that they are not subject to attack by the toro which ruins wooden piles in a short time. On a long wooden cylinder a long roll of tarred paper with glued edges is wound and covered with cord. Over this another band of paper, much narrower, is wound diagonally like the bandage on a wounded arm. The cylinder is revolved while it is bound with more cord, hot glue being applied continuously. After three layers of paper have been put in place, the wooden cylinder is removed and the paper cylinder is reinforced with a coarse mesh.

A mixture of cement and sand is squirted all over the cylinder, and several cylinders are joined end to end with the same cement so as to make a pile 80 feet long and from 18 to 20 inches in diameter. A square steel head is fitted over the top to receive the shocks of the pile-driver.

PROTEST OVER WITTENBERG ROAD

The residents of the towns of Shandaken and Woodstock will hold an indignation meeting Tuesday evening, June 20, at the Grange Hall, Mt. Tremper, the purpose of the meeting being to protest against the present dangerous condition of the Wittenberg road. The meeting will be called at 8 o'clock and all persons who reside on the road or who use the road at any time are invited to attend and air their views. As a result of the meeting the people who are compelled to use the road expect to secure some relief.

For a long time this road has been in very bad condition but recently the heavy rains have made it dangerous if not entirely impassable. In many places the road has washed away leaving deep holes and ruts and in other places exposing big boulders and rocks. Merchants doing business in that vicinity are complaining that people who formerly did business in the lower end of the town of Shandaken are unable to use the road and are compelled to drive a long distance to make their purchases elsewhere. Not only is the roadway in an unsafe condition but the bridges are in bad condition and a serious accident is liable to occur.

England's Oldest Tree.

An English correspondent, writing about England's trees, says: Some 12 years ago an interested person wrote to Lord Harcourt, then Mr. Lewis Harcourt, first commissioner of works, suggesting that a fence should be placed around the famous old oak tree in Hampton Court park. He received a prompt reply: "This fine old oak tree is especially under the care of the keepers and staff of the park, who have strict instructions from Mr. Harcourt as to its preservation and protection." The tree in question, which is by the Long water, is said to be over 1,000 years of age, and is possibly the oldest tree in England. Its trunk, two feet from the ground, measures 42 feet in circumference. It is hollow, of course, and affords standing room in its interior for a dozen persons.

Lake Erie Named After Indian Tribe.

When the French first explored this country, they found a tribe of Indians called "Eries" living in the vicinity of the lake immediately west of Lake Ontario, this inland sea was given an Indian name, and called Lake Erie, after the tribe. The Eries were a race of Indians of close kin to the Iroquois. When Hiawatha organized that ambitious federation of Indians known as the Five Nations, in which the Iroquois were the predominating race, a bitter warfare was waged against all other tribes. The Eries came in a conflict with the Five Nations and were conquered and practically wiped out. Their name still lives in the title of the lake near which they dwelt for so many years before the coming of the white man.

Reward.

"All my life," said the traveler, "I've given up my lower berth to ladies who had uppers, and last week was the first time I've ever been rewarded. I discovered—of course—that an aged lady had the berth above mine. I told the porter that I'd take the upper, and not a nod of thanks did I get from the old girl. I suppose the porter took 50 cents and all the credit from her, himself. Any way, I climbed up into the berth and settled myself for a night's sleep. In the morning I discovered that all the men in the car who had lovers had been robbed by a thief who had gone through that night, and safe in my upper berth was over a hundred dollars in bills tucked in my trousers pocket!"

Gold in the Philippines.

It is said that there is not a stream rising in the mountains of Luzon—and the same is true of other islands of the Philippine group—which has not its gold-bearing sands. The alluvial deposits of the precious metal have been garnered for many years; but no thorough exploitation for gold at its sources in the mountains has been made because the Spaniards were unable to conquer the tribes inhabiting the interior regions, and American enterprise has not yet been enlisted in this matter. Some of these tribes are said to look upon the digging up of the earth as a sacrilege, and they will not seek gold in that way lest the wrath of the gods should grow hot against them.—New York Herald.

Kind Word for Old Garments.

I love old garments; they are tried friends, companions of toil and struggle. When I take my old walking stick and plant this venerable gear on my head, it seems to me that we covenant together to say in the face of a volatile and capricious world: We stand our ground! With this old mantle about my shoulders, I feel invested with fidelity and constant attachment to what is enduring. Do not ditch it from me on the pretext of charity; where is the poor man who has ever refused a new garment? Let him have it; for my part, I prefer the old.—Charles Wagner, in "By the Fireside."

Franklin's Glass Harmonica.

One of the most curious musical instruments ever made was the glass harmonica that Benjamin Franklin invented. It was composed of glass disks of different sizes set on a spindle and made by a treadle to revolve in a trough of water. The player touched the wet edges of the disks as they revolved and thereby produced musical notes of unusual sweetness. The instrument was in great vogue for many years, but the music was said to have an injurious effect on the listener's nerves, and the friction of the glass disks made the player's fingers sore.—Youth's Companion.

Busy.

One of the busiest women we have heard of recently is an old spinster who, it is said, spends nearly all day hiding her valuables in 50 different places so the burglars she is sure are coming can't find them, and nearly all night hunting for them and gathering them into one pile in case of fire.—Boston Transcript.

Them Were the Happy Days.

Progress is progress, but still, back in the old days a horse could cast a shoe without having to get out in the mud and rain to put on a new one before you could continue your journey; and you never had to walk back 10 miles to the nearest feed store because old Dobbin had run out of hay.—Brooklyn Eagle.

Happy Phrase.

I remember an old woodsman in the Adirondack forest who used to say that he wanted to go to the top of a certain mountain as often as possible, because it gave him such a feeling of "heaven-up-histedness." That is an uncount, humble, eloquent phrase to describe the function of a great literature.—Henry Van Dyke.

REFORMED CHURCH SYNOD CLOSES

The General Synod of the Reformed Church in America which has just closed its sessions in Pella, Iowa, was one of the largest Synods of recent years. One hundred and seventy-four delegates responded to the first roll call and a number of delegates came in later. One hundred and seventy-eight persons were on the special that pulled into Pella on the Rock Island road at midnight on Wednesday evening, nearly two hours late. The delegates were entertained at the homes of Pella. Dinner and supper were served the delegates at the ladies dormitory of Central College. The mayor of Pella and the president of the chamber of commerce were on hand to welcome the Synod at its opening session to all that the city contained. A beautiful bouquet of flowers was presented to President-elect Oltmans on behalf of the chamber of commerce by Dr. Hoffman of Central College.

Everything in Pella was wide open to the delegates. If your trunk happened to be at the depot all you had to do was to call up 139 and your trunk was delivered in a jiffy. If you had to go somewhere you called up 138 and in five minutes there was a car at your door ready to take you anywhere short of Chicago or New York all free of charge.

The denomination's purpose determined to raise the $1,000,000 for disabled ministers for the completion of that fund was set for 1927 which will be the three hundredth anniversary of the Reformed Church in America.

One of the features of Synod that may be classed with unusual was the address of Rev. Masahisa Uemura, president of the General Synod of the Church of Christ in Japan and the pastor of one of the largest Christian churches in Japan and one of the leaders of the Christians in the Sunrise Kingdom. He spoke in Japanese and Dr. Oltmans, president of General Synod and for many years missionary in Japan, acted as his interpreter.

The program given by the students of Central College and the citizens of the town on Thursday evening, June 15, was a fine affair. It pictured the history of both Pella and Central College. The lighting effects were splendid and the costumes would have done credit to a large city. The actors were splendidly drilled and while Pella is a Dutch community, the spirit of American patriotism that pervaded the whole program was splendid. The eastern delegates who had never heard the name of the psalms in Dutch greatly enjoyed that part of the program that pictured Domine Scholte's organization and the singing of the psalms in Dutch in his church. The cast of the program included over 300 and many of the oldest citizens of the town were in Domine Scholte's congregation.

One conclusion forced upon the delegates is that the Reformed Church was not only fortunate in being able to secure possession of Central College but that it was wise in accepting such possession because the advancement of the church in the state and Particular Synod of Iowa will be greatly helped by the work of this college.

The second week at Synod found it hard at word and the fact that it was determined to finish up its work by Tuesday evening with a report of the board of direction. Sunday had been a most strenuous day. It was very warm and there had been three services in the three Reformed churches of the town for the delegates of Synod. While all the rest of the churches held their regular services some of the men had gone to nearby towns but all were ready for work Monday morning. The board of direction is the business agency of the church and this board with rest in seeking efficiency and Synod created a new office of secretary to the board looking to this end. Several recommendations were made looking to the safeguarding of all the funds of the church. Following this report, a resolution was offered that a commission of three active pastors and three elders who were business men, who were to make a study of the organizations and boards located in the church house at New York city to see if there can be any consolidation of forces looking to greater efficiency.

The committee on Sunday schools reported an increase in membership and efficiency; the week day Bible schools and vacation Bible schools have increased nearly four hundred per cent. The financial condition of the board in its publishing and mailing department is better than ever before.

The missionary spirit was most strong in the Synod. A large number of missionaries were present from every field of the church and there was great rejoicing over the fact that the board had completed its year without debt. The church now has 141,224 members, an increase of over 4 per cent over last year.

The last day of Synod began with the report on education. The report showed that Hope College had nearly six hundred students and that Central College had over two hundred students. The schools of the church have all advanced in numbers and plans are being made both in the schools and the colleges for new teachers and new equipment. About $170,000 to carry on the schools and colleges for next year. The ladies had a most enthusiastic day on Tuesday in their meetings. The large number of missionaries present made possible a more extended program than has been offered by most Synods.

The report of the board of domestic missions showed that during the year $475,000 has been received. 8 new missions organized and five churches assumed self-support.

The spirit of the Synod is that of desiring efficiency. Several commissions were appointed to investigate matters in the church and seek for greater efficiency. There is no doubt in the mind of any delegate to Synod that this meeting is a mile stone in the history of the church, not only that this is the first time the Synod has crossed the Mississippi but it is the first time that Synod has met in the real west and the enormous opportunities of the west has been impressed upon the minds of the delegates from the eastern churches. This meeting will bring the east and west together as never before.

This Synod was an especially happy Synod. The Rev. and Mrs. Erich T. Muller of Stanton, N. J. were married the evening before they left for Synod and Synod gave a reception to this bride and groom on Monday evening, June 11th, and presented them with a cream set. It was also a musical Synod. The meals were enlivened by song and musical selections were given by each session of Synod.

It was with genuine regret that the delegates turned their faces homeward. Next year Synod will come east again and will meet in former years at Asbury Park.

Grand Finale.

Musical professor, explaining why he had to have his new car towed in. "It's like this, the engine made staccato reports, then the car changed keys and went on four flats, and it ended up with a grand pause."

The Real "Mother Goose."

"Mother Goose" was a real character, and not an imaginary personage as has been supposed. Her maiden name was Elizabeth Foster and she was born in 1865. She married Isaac Goose in 1893 and a few years later became a member of the Old South church, Boston. She died in 1937, aged ninety-two years. The first edition of her songs, which were originally sung to her grandchildren, was published in 1716 by her son-in-law, Thomas Fleet.

Appetite Not Quite Gone.

Mary had reached the stage of satiety where she steadfastly refused all offers of "a little more turkey," "a bit more dressing or mashed potato," or "another piece of bread." Nothing apparently could tempt her to eat another mouthful. Finally, however, the nuts, raisins and candies were passed. "Yes, I will have some," said Mary, and then, apparently thinking her conduct needed some explanation, she added: "I can still eat little things!"

New York Statistics.

For the various expenses of its own government, New York city spends almost $500,000,000 a year—more than the Japanese empire. It has 1,000 theaters, 1,500 hotels and 1,000 churches. It turns out one-tenth of all the manufactured goods of the country, one-fourth of all the printed matter and one-half of all the clothing. The annual output of its 38,000 factories is worth more than $3,000,000,000.

Early Name for Cranberries.

John Josselyn, an English traveler and naturalist who visited New England in 1633 and wrote an account of its "Rarities," says: "Cranberry, or bear berry (because bears used much to feed upon them) is a small trailing plant that grows in salt marshes that are overgrown with moss. The Indians and English use them much, boiling them with sugar for sauce to eat with their meat."

She Has!

"Before I married," said the middle-aged man, "I was terribly extravagant. I went to theaters and dances all the time, smoked cigars, drank champagne. But now—well, I live a quiet life at home, smoke a pipe and drink water." "What a strong will it must need to change like that," said the young bachelor. "She has a very strong will," replied the married man. —Chicago American.

Not Till Then.

After a woman finds out that nobody believes her when she lies about her age she begins to boast about the beauty and brightness of her grandchildren.

Becomes Narrow In Thought.

When a good man has long devoted himself to a particular kind of business—to one species of reform—he apt to become narrowed in the idea of the path wherein he treads. To fancy there is no other good to be done on earth, but that selfsame to which he has put his hand, and the very mode that best suits his conceptions.—Nathaniel Hawthorne.

In Cleaning Bronze.

Hot soap suds is the best method for cleaning genuine bronze. Soak, oil, applied with a brush, is a cleansing. The oil should be removed with a soft cloth.

HOSPITAL PLANS ARE COMPLETED

Kingston City Hospital to Have Big Addition—Plans to be Submitted to Contractors Early in July—$20,000 Raised by Subscription.

The plans for the new addition to the City of Kingston Hospital have been completed and will be submitted to contractors during the early part of July. During the past few years the hospital has been cramped for room and the new addition will give the much needed facilities to carry on the work.

The physicians of the hospital staff have already obtained nearly $20,000 in subscriptions. Residents of the city have been generous in subscribing. The graduate nurses of the hospital are also carrying on a campaign to raise funds for the new building.

Any one who would like to contribute to the building fund, and who has not already been solicited, may hand their subscription to either the staff physicians, the graduate nurses or direct to the hospital.

A partial list of contributors has already been published. An additional list will be announced shortly.

SHAVES AT DINNER.

Edison Gets Out of Making Public Speech.

The Rev. C. H. Polhemus and daughter Beatrice of South Broadway, Port Ewen, attended the commencement exercises at Rutgers College this week. One of Mr. Polhemus's classmates, L. F. Loree, who is president of the Delaware and Hudson railroad, entertained his classmates at a banquet in his own private car at New Brunswick, N. J., on Monday evening. It was interesting to see Thomas A. Edison, of world-wide fame, receive the degree of Doctor of Science on commencement day. When Mr. Edison who never makes a public speech arose and shaved himself at the Alumni dinner, the boys fairly screamed with enthusiasm.

ALBANY BUYS 37 EAST STRAND

John Albany, the Strand fruit dealer, has purchased the Hasbrouck building at No. 37 East Strand of Morris Yalium and will shortly take possession. The building for many years has been occupied by Gullford Hasbrouck as a shoe store. It is a three-story brick building and the entire building is used by Mr. Hasbrouck.

It is understood that Mr. Albany will shortly be forced to vacate his present store on the Strand as the owner of the building desires to carry on a fruit business there. This makes it necessary for Mr. Albany to seek a new location and it is said he plans to use his new building for his fruit business.

Mr. Hasbrouck's plans for the future are not known.

$5,000,000 FIRE LOSS IN ARVERNE

By Telegram to The Freeman. New York, June 15.—Blackened ruins resembling a devastated area on a battle-swept field is all that is left today of three quarters of Arverne, L. I., one of the large summer resorts around New York.

Flames that swept through the heart of the colony last night leveled thirty blocks of bungalows, demolishing about 450 homes, and making 10,000 people temporarily homeless. Property damage is estimated at about $5,000,000.

Sensational rescues featured the efforts of the firemen from three boroughs, to save the residents in the stricken sections. About 20 women were removed to hospitals. None, however, is believed to be seriously injured.

The origin of the fire is unknown, but it spread with a rapidity that astounded the firemen. Soldiers were ordered to the scene, with orders to shoot those who might attempt to loot.

Refugees fleeing from the path of the flames lined all roads leading out of Arverne. Touching scenes were enacted when frantic mothers whose children had strayed from them in the excitement begged the police reserve and soldiers to find them.

The doors of thousands of other summer homes around Arverne were thrown open to the refugees. When darkness fell, hundreds of families were compelled to seek resting places on the beaches.

The bursting of gas pipes soon after the fire began its fierce sweep added to the confusion.

One of the features of the rescue work was the saving of 150 little orphans in the Israel Orphan Asylum, a three-story building enveloped in flames.

CHURCH OF THE COMFORTER SOCIETIES ALL FLOURISHING

The monthly meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held in the chapel on Thursday afternoon, with a large number of the members present. Mrs. Barnum, president of the society, presided and after a prayer by Mrs. Charles M. Streeter the regular business was transacted. Two new members joined the society. This organization is in a most flourishing condition with a membership of about seventy. Very interesting papers on the Italian missionary work at Newburgh, N. Y. were read by Mrs. M. Edgar Powley and Mrs. Samuel Williams. Following the program ice cream and cake were served by the refreshment committee and a fine social time was enjoyed by all.

The regular monthly business meeting of the Adult Bible class was held in the chapel on Wednesday evening. This class at the present time has thirty-two active members and three associates. After the transaction of business a number of songs were sung, and remarks by different members suggesting different things to be done for the benefit of the class. The refreshment committee served ice cream, strawberries and cake in generous quantities. The evening was so enjoyable that it passed all too quickly.

On Saturday afternoon the members of the cradle roll will be entertained at the parsonage by Mrs. Stowe and Mrs. Freer, superintendent and assistant superintendent of the department. They will be assisted by several ladies of the Sunday school and a good time is expected. If the weather permits it is intended to have a group picture taken. With fifty babies and their mothers there will be quite a gathering. Mrs. Stowe hopes every baby will be present and be sure and bring your mother with you.

RADICALS LOSE IN A. F. L. CONVENTION

By Telegram to The Freeman. Convention Hall, Cincinnati, O., June 16.—Conservative and radical elements in organized labor clashed today in the American Federation of Labor convention over a universal label branded by the conservatives as an off-spring of the "radicals' one big union idea." Sharp verbal conflict was finally ended by action of President Samuel Gompers in demanding a vote on the committee on labels, report of non-concurrence in the individual union label resolution. The report was adopted and the proposal was defeated.

The convention action marked a second defeat for the so-called radicals.

FINANCIAL AND COMMERCIAL

By Telegram to The Freeman.

New York, June 16.—The stock market started irregular today with only small price changes. U. S. Steel was 1/4 higher at 97 1/2, while Baldwin Locomotive showed a loss of 1/2 at 110. Mexican Petroleum was a strong feature, moving up 1 1/2 to 136 1/2 and Sinclair Oil was 1/2 higher at 33 1/2. Studebaker dropped 1/2 to 119 1/2 and then recovered to 120 1/2.

The market conditions were acutely unsettled again today when many issues were thrown on the market in large volume, causing severe losses. Texas and Pacific yielded from 2 1/2 to 2 3/4. Many other stocks yielded from 1 to 3 points. Crucible Steel yielded 2 1/2 to 66 1/2 and Republic dropped over 2 points to 65 1/2. Baldwin Locomotive ranged from 110 1/2 to 108 1/2. Marine preferred yielded 3 points to 70 1/2.

The market continued irregular in the afternoon. Baldwin Locomotive rallied from 108 1/2 to 109 1/2 and fell to the low again. Mexican Petroleum yielded nearly 2 points to 136 1/2 and Studebaker again dropped to 119 1/2. Marine preferred rallied over 2 points to 73 and U. S. Steel rallied from 96 1/2 to 97 1/2.

O'CONNOR ARRESTED.

Dodge's Father-in-Law Charged With Driving While Drunk.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Detroit, Mich., June 16.—Michael B. O'Connor, father-in-law of John Duval Dodge, was arrested early today on charges of driving while intoxicated. Patrolman Louis Sanderson who made the arrest declared O'Connor was driving his car in a wild manner on Michigan avenue. He was locked up. Young Dodge makes his home with the O'Connors.

Senate Wrestles With Bonus.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Washington, June 16.—A bitter struggle between Republican senators appeared today to be the inevitable outcome of the refusal of Chairman McChesney of the senate finance committee to accede to the expressed desire of President Harding that the tariff not be displaced for the soldiers' bonus.

Cadet Killed.

By Telegram to The Freeman. Allaire, N. J., June 16.—Jerome Stewart, a cadet at the United States Military Academy at West Point, was instantly killed this afternoon when his automobile was run down by a Pennsylvania Railroad train on a grade crossing near Allaire. A woman companion saved herself by jumping from the car.

Molla Again Defeated.

By Telegram to The Freeman. London, June 16.—Mrs. Molla Bjurstedt Mallory, the American woman tennis champion, went down to defeat before a 19-year-old English girl, Kitty Kane in the Kent tennis championship tournament today; 6-1, 2-6 and 6-3. Miss Ryan defeated Mrs. Beamish, 8-6 and 6-3.

Ancient and Modern Coinage.

Man first had an opportunity to call "heads or tails" more than 2,200 years ago, when the practice of stamping a head on coins was instituted by the Greeks, with the likeness of Alexander the Great. Some of these ancient Greek coins are valuable as art objects alone, the embossing being of rare workmanship and surpassing anything to be seen on the coinage of today. It is naturally an example of the great height which Greek culture reached in that day. The course of civilization, in fact, can easily be traced in these ancient coins. Roman coinage, some of which bears the head of Nero, is not equal in beauty to that of the Greeks, but nevertheless shows a high quality of art. But the money of the succeeding Dark ages is crude in the extreme, and even the English 10-cent piece of 1000 A. D. is childishly primitive in comparison. —Pearson's Weekly.

Forerunner of Pianoforte.

The pianoforte, a word meaning "soft" and "loud," came tentatively into existence, or at least its principle did, as early as the Fourth century in the shape of the clavichord. Then came the luthra, harpsichord and spinet, which entertained lovers of music down to the eighteenth century. Both Mary Queen of Scots and Queen Elizabeth played upon the spinet. When the Scotch ambassador visited the English court the queen anxiously inquired about her cousin's proficiency in playing that instrument and was informed that Mary played "very well for a queen." It is probable that the music produced by neither of those queens would have entranced listeners had it not been brought forth by the jeweled fingers of royalty. Shakespeare alludes to the spinet in the line, "Those jacks that nimble leap to kiss the tender-taward of thy hand."

Photograph shows Henry Wilkens submitting himself to the "sphygmomanometer" or, in plain language, the "lie detector." Invented by Dr. John A. Larson, professor-police man, of the Berkeley, (Cal.) Police Department, The lie detector records the pulse vibrations of suspects under police examination, and it informed the police that Wilkens was telling the truth about the murder of his wife by two auto bandits. The police suspected Wilkens, because he told them he had never seen the bandits before, when he had actually been a foreman over one of them for months, and a narrow search was instituted for Walter and Arthur Castor. They further suspected him because his wife had fled a separate maintenance suit and because he had often threatened suicide because of his grief. But the lie detector freed him.

"They All Rejoice."

See where the sun, with face of ineffable splendor, goes swimming through the day; see where the soft silver moon, with flocks of stars goes swimming through the night. What an eloquent silence! There they shine and move, perhaps wonderfully achieve—hosts upon hosts; but there is no celebrating pomp of sounds, only an all-embracing pomp of silence—not a whisper, not a rustle, through all the vast dome. Our dinned ears and hearts are hushed, our petty cares and excitements are hushed.—E. F. Burr.

Greatly Interested.

The milkmaids of Jamaica are one of the wonders of the island," reported a prominent Bradford (Pa.) business man, after a stay in Montego Bay, Jamaica, R. W. L. "They can carry large cans of milk from mountain ranges to markets on their heads, and never even move the cans as they sell and pour out the milk. They go up when they start up a flight they can begin to fill their piteers, measuring the amount by the number of steps taken. I watched them many times with great interest and delight."

NO BALL PLAYING ON CITY STREETS

Two Taxi Drivers Learn That The City Has An Ordinance Which Prohibits Practice—Other Cases In Police Court This Morning.

For some time taxi drivers while waiting for fares at the West Shore station have been whiling away the time by playing ball on the street. Complaints have been lodged with the police department and Thursday afternoon Officer Leonard arrested Arthur Fox and Kenneth Post.

This morning in police court before Judge Schirrick both young men entered a plea of guilty. They said they had not known there was a city ordinance which prohibited the playing of ball in the streets.

Judge Schirrick stated that as they were the first to be arrested for violation of the ordinance that he would give them another chance and discharge them with the warning that any one arrested again for violation of the ordinance would not be let off so easily.

Officer Leonard the same afternoon arrested Sam Conlin and Leroy Schmidt both charged with stopping their cars on Railroad avenue in such a position as to interfere with traffic. Both pleaded not guilty and the hearing was adjourned until Monday.

David Becker of New York city contributed $10 to the city treasury when he forfeited his cash bail by failure to appear in answer to the charge. He was arrested Thursday by Officer Kuehn on a charge of speeding.

Mrs. O'Rourke withdrew the charge of non-support she had lodged against her husband, Maurice O'Rourke, and the defendant was discharged.

Ralph Hinman, a member of a carnival company, while in Erie skipped out with $440 and some clothes belonging to a fellow employee. He was traced to Kingston and arrested here by Sergeant Hanley. This morning in police court the complainant stated that he did not care to press the charge. Hinman made restitution and the case was dismissed.

Division of Labor.
In the upper Amazon there is an interesting tribe, which, in its division of work, is reminiscent of the guilds of the Middle Ages. One portion makes clothing and nothing else; another one is purely agricultural; another devotes its time and labor to the construction of weapons, and so on. Their pottery, however, is the most notable of their productions. Some of these jars are extremely large but very thin, although strong and durable. Some of the smaller vessels are almost as thin as paper.

Civilization From the Sidewalk.
"What is civilization?" asks a California writer. It's where you stand on a street corner and wait for ten street cars, four hundred automobiles, fifty motorcycles, twenty-five bikes, a dozen motor trucks, a few fire engines, the police patrol, a hurry-up ambulance and a funeral to pass before you dare make a try for the opposite corner.

A neighbor woman's idea of a guarded statement is to tell something about somebody with a wealth of damning detail and then say she merely heard it rumored.—Ohio State Journal.

Wonderful Watch.
The nabob of Rampur has sent to London a watch for repair which, no doubt, is a unique specimen of its kind. The case is carved from a topaz, the crystal is a section of a diamond which is covered over with a section of an emerald. Small as the watch is it indicates seconds, minutes, hours, days, weeks and months. It is valued at $60,000.

Soda Water Called Alias.
The ordinary soda water contains no soda. Its principal ingredients are marble dust and sulphuric acid.

Couple Decided Own Case.
Told by the court that one or the other must serve a jail sentence for violation of the liquor law and that they must decide between them which it should be, Mr. and Mrs. Anton Goodoff decided their own fate before Judge Welsh, at Rockford, Ill. Mrs. Goodoff assumed the responsibility for the liquor sales and was given 60 days in jail.

Last Word in Pathos.
Probably the most pathetic of all the pathetic little features of every day life is some one trying to be funny, who can't.—Ohio State Journal.

To Dream of Mackerel.
Mackerel, especially if eaten, few that you will make the acquaintance of one of the opposite sex will become very useful to you.

Or Some Fancy Duds.
Another thing that causes a child to cross the road is a show window with a good mirror in it.—Columbia (S. C.) Record.

You Suffer from Constipation Read this Message Immediately!

About 90% of all can be blamed on constipation—one of the greatest enemies of the human race! Pills and cathartics aggravate dangerous conditions in the delicate intestinal tract while affording but temporary relief! The great, natural cleanser is bran—KELLOGG'S BRAN, cooked and krumbled! If you eat bran regularly it will give relief permanently! Its work is wonderful! Physicians endorse the use of Kellogg's Bran for constipation because it is a desirable way of correcting constipation through food. Bran is nature's food—not a "remedy"! Do not think of Kellogg's Bran as you think of pills and cathartics which never can afford permanent relief! Pills and cathartics aggravate already dangerous conditions. Kellogg's Bran sweeps the bowels naturally, cleansing and purifying the intestinal tract without irritation or discomfort! Realize, too, that the regular use of Kellogg's Bran will clear up a pimply complexion and it will free the breath from disagreeable stomach odors. At least two tablespoonsful should be eaten daily, and as much more as needed for relief of chronic cases.

Kellogg's Bran, cooked and krumbled, is delicious served as a cereal, or it can be sprinkled over your favorite cereal, its nut-like flavor adding a delightful zest to breakfast! Kellogg's Bran is delicious in raisin bread, muffins, pancakes, gravies, etc.

Start the family eating Kellogg's Bran tomorrow morning! Kellogg's Bran will actually build up the kiddies into fine robust health! Your grocer has it.

WILL PLAY BALL IN JAPAN

Ward Gilbert, Balloonist, and Emmo Ona, Who Served as Gob, Off for Tokyo.

Johnny Jap is going to have another look at the great American game as it is played by the baseball nine of Indiana University. The richshaw men of Tokyo and the merchants of Nagoya are going to carry and trade with two members of the team who left Seattle, Wash., to the tune of a band and the cheers of the American Legion. Ward Gilbert, Kokomo, Ind., one of the Hoosiers' pitchers, went back to college after 11 months as a balloonist in France. Emmo Ona, of the catching staff served 18 months as a gob. When the Legion men in Seattle discovered this they turned out and wished the pair good luck.

From Seattle the Indiana party went straight to where the sun rises. There Japan college teams will be taken on, but they will be the guests of Waseda university of Tokyo. So great has been the interest shown in the visit that the Japan university has guaranteed the American players $15,000 for expenses. Baseball has been introduced in Japan before. Two other American college teams have traveled the Pacific and shown their wares.

Tokyo has an American Legion post and its members are planning to show the ex-service men much of the Orient and its attractions during the Indiana team's stay.

TO AID THE EX-SERVICE MEN

Mrs. Madge King Johnston, South Dakota, Gives Up Music for Americanism Work.

After years of study in America and Europe Mrs. Madge King Johnston, Aberdeen, S. D., national vice-president of the American Legion auxiliary has sacrificed a career in music for Americanism work and to aid in relieving the condition of sick and wounded ex-service men.

Mrs. Johnston is in charge of stores in eight states where articles made by disabled fighters are sold. She is national chairman of the auxiliary's American committee and has specialized on the formation of citizenship clubs and organizations of children of ex-service men.

Before engaging in auxiliary work, Mrs. Johnston appeared as a concert artist in many western cities. This she relinquished for activity in behalf of ex-service men.

Her husband, Dr. M. C. Johnston, is a big game hunter and has brought down mountain sheep, elk, deer and bear in the Rocky mountains and moose in the Canadian woods. Mrs. Johnston has accompanied him on many hunts.

Y. M. C. A. HELPS PRISONERS

Men Confined in "Disciplinary Barracks" at Governor's Island, Appreciate Training.

Thanks to the Y. M. C. A. many of the "disciplinary barracks" maintained by the United States for its soldiers who fracture the rules that govern the buck private and officer alike aren't all dark walls and dark living. Such a one is historic Fort Jay at Governor's Island, New York harbor, where between 200 and 300 soldiers are usually confined, most of whom are "in" for minor offenses. A few, however, are being "cared for" only a few days, prior to their taking up a longer residence at Fort Leavenworth, the army prison.

Col. John E. Hunt was commanding officer of Fort Jay during the World war, and he introduced "Y" activities for its inmates. Since that time the secretaries have kept up their work. The "Y" is housed in the first building of its kind the organization ever built in this country. Every Wednesday the confined men are allowed to attend the "sing-song" and about 175 of the men make the walls resound. The Sunday evening religious service is even better attended, more than 200 taking part.

Another feature of the work is the teaching of volunteer instructors of educational subjects. Spanish and French courses, together with reading, writing and arithmetic, are proving the most popular subjects. The men show a desire to absorb as much knowledge as possible during their period of confinement.

"BILLY SUNDAY OF LEGION"

Don Hollenga, Lecturer, Former Stretcher Bearer, in Demand in All Parts of Country.

Sixteen months' service as a stretcher-bearer in France should be excellent preparation for a battle in behalf of disabled fighters of the World war. Don S. Hollenga, special representative of the American Legion's service division at Washington, D. C., is now carrying the sick and wounded over the shell holes of red tape in an effort to obtain compensation and hospitalization for ex-service men.

Although he was born in Holland, Mr. Hollenga had little difficulty in mastering the "American" language. As a speaker for the Legion in all parts of the country, his oratorical ability has become so well known that he is called "Billy Sunday of the American Legion."

A citizen of the United States for a number of years, Mr. Hollenga volunteered as a private shortly after war was declared. He was soon made a drill sergeant, but found no joy in this "squad right" career because of his desire to get to France. He obtained a transfer to Base Hospital 65 and served with this unit overseas.

When the war ended Mr. Hollenga spent more than a year organizing chambers of commerce in the South, and then served as a field representative for the Legion. He was later appointed director of organization at Legion national headquarters and served in that position until National Commander Harford MacNider sent him to Washington as a personal representative to aid disabled ex-service men in obtaining justice from the government.

CITIZEN OF TWO COUNTRIES

Frank Sinclair, Historian of Janesville (Wis.) Post, Honored by Bourges, France.

The average American newspaper sporting editor considers himself lucky to preserve a mere semblance of citizenship, but Frank Sinclair, who holds that position on a Janesville (Wis.) newspaper, bears the distinction of being a citizen of two countries—or at least of two cities.

Sinclair, who is historian of the Janesville post of the American Legion, was honored with citizenship in the city of Bourges, France, while a regimental sergeant major with the Central Records office, G. H. Q., stationed in the French town.

The honor, usually conferred only upon high governmental representatives, was given to Sinclair for promoting closer relations between the Yanks and citizens of Bourges through the medium of "The Cro," largest post newspaper in the A. E. F., of which Sinclair was managing editor and co-organizer. The common council of Bourges awarded the honor. Lawrence J. Weidman, Boston, and William F. Wragg, Brooklyn, were also made citizens for co-operating in Sinclair's diplomatic work. Sinclair and Weidman also won renown as the authors of "The Battle of Bourges," which a Paris English language newspaper said should be in every American home.

For Pity's Sake.

The U. S. S.—no matter, it was the U. S. S. something—was on its way to France. It was a rough night, and the only persons visible on that part of the deck were Gubbins, the worst job in the navy, who was doing deck guard, and Lieutenant Commander Gilet, the gruffest and most generally unpopular commander in any navy. Suddenly there was a splash, as the ship gave a lurch, and no more lieutenant commander was to be seen.

Gubbins wrestled with his conscience for a moment, then gave up the struggle, dove in, and grabbed his superior by the neck as he was going down for the third time.

"Gubbins," gasped the latter, "I thank you. If we are rescued I shall do anything I possibly can for you."

"Sir," answered Gubbins, "if it isn't asking too much, would you mind not telling the gang who it was that saved you? They'd kill me."—American Legion Weekly.

Carrying On With the American Legion

Tombstones, and even war memorials, are being bought from Germany by English and American cities, because Germany is able to underbid other markets.

Breezy letters from home-town buddies are being sent wounded Kansas soldiers in a hospital at Fort Bayard, N. M. The barracks was set up by Kansas posts of the Legion.

A pilotless plane is becoming the sensation of the Villacoublay airrome, France. Controlled by wireless from the ground, the plane circles far and wide over the countryside.

Finger Prints in Banks.

The system adopted by some banks of taking "signatures" by means of finger prints is not a new idea, but only a survival of a very old custom. In the days when only a few people could write it was quite a usual thing for a person to signify approval of a document by making a thumb print on a dab of sealing wax.

FREEMAN WANT ADS. BRING RESULTS

Some of Them Bathe in Water They Later Drink.

Woodstock, June 16.—It would be interesting to know how many, if any, residents of Kingston have contributed to the temperamental disturbance in Woodstock which has arisen over the city's efforts to provide pure and wholesome drinking water by prohibiting swimming in the large pool adjacent both to Woodstock village and the Woodstock reservoir.

Not all the so-called swimmers who parade the village of Woodstock and nearby roads are summer boarders. Not all of them are occasional visitors whose chief characteristic is their much-vaunted temperamental, which as a rule is simply a disregard of other people's rights in order to follow their own inclinations. But few of the bathing-suit paraders are natives of Woodstock. They do not belong to the substantial element of the community which furnishes the stamina responsible for permanent improvement and growth.

Swimmers in the city's drinking water have included some of the men of Kingston whose reasons for swimming there in preference to streams or lakes nearby especially adapted for bathing and swimming possibly may be the precise reasons which such swimmers have stated.

But in the minds of many people there will be a question of the sincerity of the claim that there is no swimming to be had in Ulster county comparable to that in the Woodstock pool.

A matter of common morality is involved in the action of residents of Kingston who make use of the Woodstock reservoir for swimming purposes. A deeper responsibility rests on them than upon the residents of Woodstock or on the summer boarders, although in a general sense the duty of avoiding everything which may tend to contaminate the drinking water of a community rests equally on everyone. But the man who washes his dirty body in the drinking water which he intends to use and knows that his neighbors must use performs an act for which he will be held accountable more quickly than a stranger would.

WAVES MOVE FAST

Average Speed of More Than Forty Miles an Hour.

Fortunately, Their Velocity and Power Are Materially Reduced as They Near the Shore.

When the wind blows fiercely most dwellers in towns, particularly in those near the sea, think of themselves what a stormy time our ships and sailors must be having, says a writer in a London paper, according to the Montreal Herald.

Storm-waves around the shores of these islands frequently have immense force behind them, treating blocks of stone and heavy timbers as playthings, smashing like match sticks apparently the most substantial obstacles.

During one storm in the Solent, near Hurst castle, the waves exerted such force ninety feet below the surface that stones weighing 300 pounds or more were torn from their resting places and hurled on the beach, together with heavy masses of seaweed attached to them.

It is in the deep ocean where the storm-wave is seen in its full majesty. Forty, fifty and even sixty feet is the height to which the billows of the Atlantic, the Indian ocean, and the Southern will rise in times of tempest.

In pre-storm days a British man-of-war encountered an unusually heavy gale of wind just outside the Bay of Biscay. Between two seas her storm trysails were totally becalmed, while the crest of each sea was above the level of the center of her mainyard. The mainyard was sixty feet above the water-line.

The water from a wave—as distinct from the body of the wave itself—has been known to do serious damage to vessels of great height above the deck. One notable instance of the kind was the smashing of the port lifeboat of a Hamburg-American liner, lashed on the bridge deck eighty feet above the seafloor.

Giant storm-waves of the ocean have an average speed of rather more than forty miles an hour. Their length is the distance from crest to crest. This is about 400 feet for the Atlantic waves. It is much more, however, for the waves of the profoundly deep Pacific ocean.

Of course, it has to be remembered that giant waves in the open ocean can move with perfect freedom. It is when they begin to "touch bottom" in comparatively shallow water that their great speed is reduced—luckily for the fronts of the British coast resorts.

The velocity of the storm-wind in the Atlantic is frequently several miles an hour greater than the velocity of the wave. This results in a good deal of spraying, which, in very severe weather, sometimes seriously thickens and obscures the air.

At the seaside in summer we may sometimes see spraying caused by a stiff breeze blowing against an advancing wavelet.

During a gale on the British coast it will be noticed that the waves begin to break a long way out. That is because these waves, being big ones, touch bottom the sooner. Their lower part moves forward at its old speed. The result is that the upper part curls over and breaks.

In very deep water a giant wave has been known to touch bottom and stir up the fine sand there at a depth of 1,200 feet.

On a fine autumn day we may sometimes see a procession of big "groundswells" coming shoreward and breaking on the beach with the boom of distant thunder. They represent the disturbance of the sea caused by a storm far out to sea. By closely observing the direction from which these swells come one can form an idea of where the storm is situated. Sometimes the waves travel faster than the storm, and even give warning of its approach.

Miss Marjorie—But why are you troubled about James?

Giles—Why, Ol' fear 'e must 'a took to drink, miss!—Pearson's Weekly.

Smoke as Lightning Conductor.

In a recent reference to the astronomical observatory on Mt. Etna, a prominent scientist called attention to the fact that thunderstorms are very rare phenomena there. The observatory is more than 9,000 feet above the level of the sea, and near the summit of the volcano, yet it has not been found necessary to protect it with lightning rods. The absence of thunderstorms has been accounted for on the supposition that the smoke and hot vapor constantly rising from the great crater of Etna act as a lightning conductor on a grand scale.

Fossil Forest.

The discovery of a fossil forest is reported at Anglon, Sardinia. Petrified palms, with well-preserved structure, are already known from a Miocene formation in the island, and details of the new find will be awaited with much interest.

Prevails Parental Profanity.

An amusing comment on the quality of the government telephone service in Great Britain was recently made by an American woman temporarily residing in London with her husband and little boy. She said that, whenever her husband answered the telephone, or picked up the receiver to make a call, it was a household rule that she must without fail immediately enter her son out of the room and as far away as possible, in order that the boy might not hear her husband swear, as he invariably would.

GOD OF WEALTH

Japanese Deity Whose Favor Naturally Is Sought.

Worshippers at His Shrine, However, Are Comparatively Few Considering His Reputed Powers.

Japan's "Seven Gods of Good Luck" are a clan of deities from which philosophy, religion and superstition have borrowed much of their origin.

They are a queer set of deities, swept together from many incongruous sources—Japanese Shintoism, Chinese Taoism, Indian Buddhism and Brahmanism. Orientalists all, but cosmopolitan Orientals!

They comprise, to give them their full names, Ebisu, Daikoku, Benten, Fuburoppu, Hashamon, Jurijin and Hotel.

A full discussion of their origin and attributes would doubtless reveal how slender a basis the modern popularity of these deities has been reared on. Their union in one group is the result of nothing more recent than popular ignorance and confusion of ideas. They themselves never chose to be thus united. They reign in an ideal state, for they have no king or even spokesman among them. Collectively they command perennial, perpetual and everlasting interest. Individually they celebrate their own festivals and each can boast of an entirely different group in his train of devotees.

On Daikoku's birthday a few of his disciples will worship at his shrine at Azabu and in Osaka. It seems so strange to say "a few," for of all the gods in the cycle of Japanese mythology, in this material age, Daikoku, the god of wealth, should find greatest favor. But perhaps he has not proved himself to be gracious to supplicants. Perhaps efficacious influences have not been felt in result of worship at his shrines—or is it that even he, the god of wealth, has failed to live up to the extravagant standard our present-day civilization has set as a basis to contentment?

Daikoku is a Hindu and a Buddhist. The word "Daikoku" means "great blackness," and when he first came to Japan he was a god of physique and frightful aspect with a face as black as night. Since his naturalization Daikoku has thrown off some of his native characteristics and has adopted a new mode of living, the chief of his models being Okukikushinomoto, a famous god in the mythology of Japan.

In the old records this god was represented carrying a large bag on his shoulders. As there is a similarity, ogy, in this material age, Daikoku, the Japanese people somehow mixed up the two characters and molded them into one perfect deity who combines the good points of both. Makhala (Sanskrit) was the original name by which he was known in India, where he was feared as god of destruction. His immigration to Japan has changed his incarnation to that of wealth and plenty.

He stands or sits on three bales of rice, having in one hand the usudeno-kouchi or the lucky hammer from which he can produce anything in the world he chooses to, from a palace down to gold or silver, man or beast. He carries on his back a bag full of treasures of all sorts, while rats are his earthly messengers and oftentimes he is represented with one on either side of him, waiting to do his bidding.

Daikoku is generally coupled with Ebisu, the god of tradesmen. Though they are of totally different birth, race, religion, etc., they have been linked together and one seldom sees the one without the other in close proximity. Although Daikoku is not a god to whose shrine worshippers flock, his popularity is told by the number of metallic images of his divinity which are bought and carried as amulets by people seeking wealth.

Shall we test this jovial little man's powers? Go to his shrine and beseech him to command a shower of gold, or carry his image in our pocket and see if we find it gold-lined by night?

We are snobs—all of us—of one kind or another. "We don't care for money," say some haughtily, having none. "I don't know how to spend my money," complains a millionaire. It's Daikoku's turn to speak and if he but could he would strip the world of its snobism and no doubt reveal a race of human beings all alike in their allegiance to him, the god of wealth!

Described.

"What sort of a fellow is he?"
"Well, were you ever driving along a busy street and held up for several minutes by a man who had discovered that somebody was about to vacate a parking space?"
"Yes."
"And were you forced to stay there until the other man cranked up his car and arranged his bundles and finally started up?"
"Yes."
"And then compelled to wait still longer until the hog had maneuvered his vehicle in and out several times in order to squeeze his car into the vacant spot?"
"Yes."
"Well, the chances are it was the fellow you just asked about."

Decorated by All Allies.

Samuel Gluckman, a sergeant of the Sixth Marines, has been decorated by every allied government for his distinguished service during the World war. One of his feats was the capture of twenty Germans single handed in an engagement at Mont Blanc.—The Argonaut.

Motor to School.

Every day in the school year 14,000 children motor to school in North Carolina. Consolidation of the one-room rural schoolhouses into high grade central schools is going forward rapidly in this state. Ninety-three percent of children carried to school at state expense are transported in motor vehicles.

Genuine Common Sense

Many Ford owners can afford to own and operate any car they may choose, but they prefer a Ford "because it is a Ford."

For "because it is a Ford" means dependability, ease of operation, efficiency—and it means sure, quick transportation.

And "because it is a Ford" means good taste, pride of ownership and genuine Common Sense.

The Ford Sedan, a closed car of distinction, beauty and convenience, is the ideal all year 'round car, for pleasure or business—for the farm, town or city. It gives you all that any car can give at a much lower cost for operation and maintenance.

Ford Cars of all types are in great demand, so place your order at once if you wish to avoid delay in delivery.

HAWK TRUTHS

"Now, if they say you're bad, there is truth to it," said Mr. Hen Hawk, "but they say a great deal about me that isn't so. I am accused of many things I do not do."

"What does that mean?" asked Mr. Cooper's Hawk.

"It means," explained Mr. Hen Hawk, "that they say I do many bad things which I do not. By accusing me of these bad actions, they state that I do them."

"And I don't."

"Of course, I'm not perfect. Well, after all, who is? I've made mistakes and have done wrong things. That is natural. I try to improve. I try to do better."

"Surely, all that is to my credit."

"What does it mean when you say those good things are to your credit?" asked the Cooper's Hawk.

"That means," said Mr. Hen Hawk, "that there are many good things to be said for me, as things that are to my credit are things that are to my favor."

"Oh, yes, oh, yes," said Mr. Cooper's Hawk.

"I fly slowly about and have a great deal of dignity and style, I'm told. I am many horrible insects and do a great deal of good that way."

"Of course I will admit I like to eat the insects, but still it is nice to do good work and to like it, too."

"I do a great deal more good than harm, and what is more, folks often gossip about me and mistake me for others and say that I do horrible deeds that I do not do at all."

"It is most unfortunate."

"Well," said the Cooper's Hawk, "perhaps it is better to be as I am. Now I am dangerous. I'm just as dangerous as Mr. Sparrow Hawk is good and helpful."

"I have a small cousin, Master Sparrowhawk; just as bad as I am! Every bit!"

"We like to do as much harm to pigeon families and chicken families, and some of those other nice and delicate and tempting little families as is possible."

"Really, Mr. Hen Hawk, you should live up to your reputation instead of behaving so much better."

"That is the way we do."

"We nest quite early in the spring—not too early, but when it begins to be nice and warm."

"Those little Sparrowhawks are certainly good-natured creatures."

"They like to go to the cities and places about the cities so that the people who love birds, but who must see birds will see them.

"They're handsome little birds, too, with their long tail and their long scissor-like wings."

"They build their nests in the holes of dead trees."

"Yes, they're lovely creatures. But we don't want to be like that."

"Then there are the Duck Hawks. There is a nest of them along some cliffs not far away from yonder river."

"They're relatives of very noble and famous European hawks."

"They're very, very brave. Oh, yes, they are without fear. It is said, and will strike while flying if there is danger near."

"But for us—let us be harmful and lend wild lives."

"Dear me," said Mr. Hen Hawk, "it seems too bad to think that you are as you are, and don't mind that and I mind it because I'm supposed to be what I'm not."

"Better take my advice and do some of the things folks say you do."

"No," said Mr. Hen Hawk, "even if I am unjustly accused I cannot act differently."

"I really, really cannot."

"Oh, very well," said Mr. Cooper's Hawk. "Don't ask my opinion then."

"There is no harm in asking it," said Mr. Hen Hawk, "as long as I do not follow it."

"True, true," said Mr. Cooper's Hawk, "but I am not offended. I wouldn't want to be thought perfect, or even moderately good. It wouldn't appeal to me at all, not at all."

How Did That Happen?

Willie was only seven, nevertheless he was allowed to go for an outing with the choir boys. His little suit was brand new when he set out, but when he returned the entire seat of his trousers was gone.

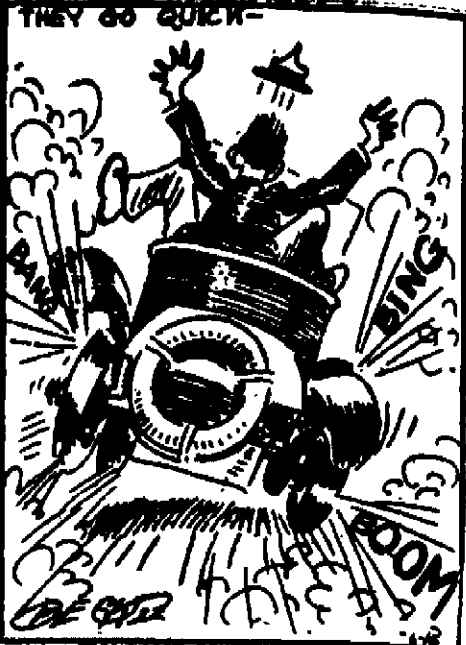

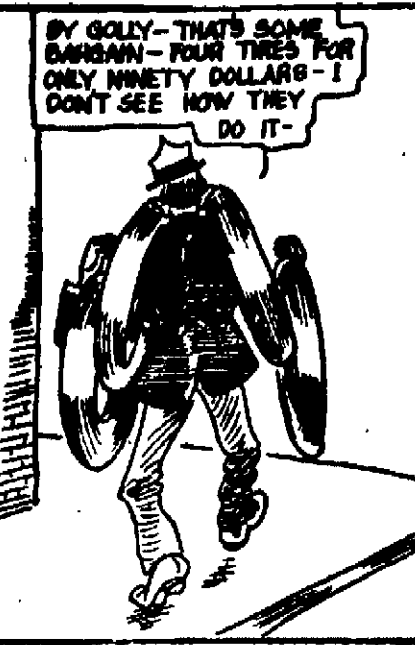

His mother met him at the door on his return, and said: "Oh, Willie, surely you didn't walk home like that?"

"It's all right, mother," replied Willie. "No one saw me, for I walked all the way backwards."

GOOD THINGS YOU WILL ENJOY

Now that fresh cabbage is in the market, the following dish will be one we will like to try.

Pepper Cabbage Salad.—Take one quart of fresh cabbage chopped; add one cupful of green pepper also chopped; season and mix with one cupful of cream dressing and serve on lettuce.

To prepare the dressing use one teaspoonful of dry mustard, one tablespoonful of sugar, one teaspoonful of salt and one-half teaspoonful of paprika, one tablespoonful of flour, one egg, two tablespoonfuls of olive oil or butter and one-half cupful of rich milk. Put the dry ingredients in a bowl, add the egg yolk, and three tablespoonfuls of vinegar; cook up thick and add the remainder of the ingredients, heating well. Just before serving, add one-half cupful of whipped cream.

Tapoca Delight.—Dissolve three-fourths of a cupful of sugar and one-half teaspoonful of salt in four cupfuls of coffee which has been strained. Add one cupful of minute tapioca and cook over hot water until it is perfectly transparent. Add one-half cupful of chopped nut meats and one-half teaspoonful of vanilla. Chill and serve with cream.

Club Sandwich.—Toast slices of bread on one side only, cut in triangles. For the filling, spread each side of the bread with anchovy paste mixed with salad dressing, then add to each slice a lettuce leaf. In between each slice put a layer of tuna fish, two slices of cooked bacon and two rounds of fresh tomato spread with salad dressing.

Waffles.—Cream one-half pound of butter until creamy; add one-fourth a pound of sugar and the yolks of three eggs, one-half pound (two cupfuls) of flour, one pint of warm milk, and then when well mixed add salt and fold in the well-beaten whites. Bake on a hot waffle iron. Serve with powdered sugar and preserves or jam.

A most delicious dessert which may be prepared the day before is this: Bake an angel food in a sheet, cut in squares, cover with crushed strawberries and sugar and top with whipped cream. Or a slice of brick ice cream may be used as a filling between layers of cake and topped with berries.

Chivalrous Grocers.

First on the list of public bodies in England to recognize woman's rights, stands the Worshipful Company of Grocers of the City of London, incorporated by Edward III in 1345. These gallant grocers not only admitted "sisters of the fraternity" to their guild but even invited ladies who were not members to share in their feasts. This historic company was amalgamated with the pepperers and spicers and for some centuries also included the apothecaries; moreover there is a connection between the Grocers' company and the Bank of England that dates back to the very birth of the Old Lady of Threadneedle Street. It was in Grocers' hall that the governor and company of the Bank of England held their courts between 1694 and 1734.

OLD QUARRY TO BE STADIUM

Miniature California Mountain Can Be Put to Good Use at Comparatively Small Expense.

A short distance from Oakland, and marking the terminus of a popular driveway along the eastern shore of San Francisco bay, is a miniature mountain covering an area of about 5 acres and 135 feet in height. It has furnished a large amount of material for building purposes, its bowels being quarried out in such fashion as to leave only a shell of the original hill.

About a million and a half cubic yards of stone have been removed by quarrying from the inside of the hill, which has been thereby converted into a sort of roofless amphitheater, with a flat, smooth floor and an entrance through one side, represented by a straight and narrow tunnel, this passage of entrance and exit being used for carrying out the blasted rock in small cars on rails.

To some ingenious person the idea occurred that the hollow hill might be utilized for a stadium, and the scheme is soon to be carried out, title having been obtained by purchase from the quarry company. It has cost the company $1,500,000 to create the amphitheater as it stands (which is so much to the good from the buyers' point of view), and the expense of putting it in shape for the contemplated purpose will be relatively small.

The above-mentioned tunnel is to be converted into an ornamental entrance, with concrete columns. Directly opposite it is a vertical cliff more than 100 feet high and 200 feet wide, against which a concrete stage will be built. The floor (providing for a great arena) will be encircled by a concrete wall, from which concrete seats will rise in tiers, with six concrete stairways.

Everything about the Stone Bowl, as it is to be called, will be extremely Greek. It will have seating capacity of 125,000 persons, and the arena will be large enough for football and baseball games, with a running track around it.

Spaniards Liked Nick Carter.

The death of the creator of Nick Carter will very probably cause more widespread grief in Spain and Latin America than in Nick's native land. More thousands of readers, juvenile and elders, were regular followers of Nick's exploits in the Spanish translations than there have been in English-speaking countries for more than ten years at least. Traveling through the Latin countries, you find the famous weekly still prominently displayed on nearly every news vendor's stand. The large Spanish publishing house of Sopena, in Barcelona, has conducted an immense and profitable business in making regular translations of Nick Carter's Weekly and publishing them. Whatever may be the literary quality of the original, the Spanish translations are such that people of presumably fast tastes are not ashamed to be seen reading them. A professor of romance language in the State university of Maine was in Havana about three years ago polishing up his Spanish conversation. He openly admitted his great fondness for the Spanish Nick Carter, and recommended them to all students of Spanish for the acquisition of facility in conversation. —New York Evening Post.

CITY TREASURER'S NOTICE

SPECIAL ASSESSMENT.

Notice is hereby given that I have received the warrant for collection of the special assessment of 75 per cent of the expense incurred in the construction of a Sanitary Sewer in Main Street Extension, commencing at a point eighteen hundred and seventy-eight feet on Grand View Avenue and extending for a distance of one mile to a connection with the existing sewer on the corner of Main Street and Johnston Avenue, in the City of Kingston. The same has been left with me for collection at my office in the City Hall, in said city; that for thirty days from the date of this notice the said assessment may be paid without additional fees or charges, and that for the twenty succeeding days 2 per centum additional will be collected. If any of the said special assessments shall remain unpaid at the time last mentioned, I shall give a written or printed notice to the person or persons against whom such assessment stands charged, requiring them to pay such unpaid assessments to me at my office within thirty days thereafter, with 5 per centum fees thereon, and one dollar for such notice as required by the City Charter.

Dated at the Treasurer's office, City of Kingston, N. Y., June 16, 1922.

STUDY AND WORK

Columbia Students Give Cafeteria an "Atmosphere."

Variety of Races and Countries Represented in Small New York Eating Place.

There is one cafeteria in New York where the dishwashers discuss relatively and the fourth dimension, where the countermen have master degrees, where the bus boys are prepared to give an opinion on the Genoa conference, or the Rapallo agreement. This cafeteria is located in a one-story building just back of the massive gray-domed library of Columbia university and is best known by its title of "commons," the New York Sun points out.

Nearly students are given all the jobs in this cafeteria, with the exception of some managerial positions and those in the culinary department.

A visit to this cafeteria a little afternoon on a week day in the company of one familiar with the place and its habits will yield some interesting information. The man who serves the soup, for example, is a Nova Scotian. A student of journalism, he is earning his way through by free landing and by doing odd bits of work. Beside him is a Greek, in this country only a year, but already a master of English.

The dark-skinned man at the griddle is a native of Turkistan, a pre-medical student. He has announced his intention of leaving Columbia at the end of the present semester to continue his studies at Iowa State university, because the expenses are less at the latter institution. The 1,100 miles from New York to Iowa he is to travel by emulating Jack London in his adverse days. This man will practice in Persia when he has finished his education.

Behind the salad counter stand two Chinese students, both beneficiaries of provincial government scholarships worth about $80 a month. There are more than 300 Chinese students in New York city alone, it is said, and more than 2,000 in the whole country, mostly sent here by their governments. At the dessert counter is a Japanese.

Further along are to be found native American countermen, like the others, obliged to earn their way through school. The man who operates the butter cutting machine was a seaman all the early years of his life and went up, as far as a third mate's berth before he decided to chuck the sea and get an education. He has four years of college and two in a professional school ahead of him, even after he works off his matriculation requirements. Besides this work at the cafeteria he has a job taking care of an old man, a paralytic.

Among the dishwashers is a Hindu, already the possessor of a master's degree and now working on his thesis for a doctorate. In another year he hopes to return to India, where he has a wife waiting for him, and take charge of an Indian college.

There is a cosmopolitan air about those who eat in this cafeteria. At one table there may be seen a group of olive-skinned Filipinos, more than 100 of whom are now studying in New York city. Next to them there may be two or three striking blonde students, presumably Scandinavians. A Mesopotamian, a student of philosophy, is a frequent of this place. So are two Russian students and several Italians. It is probably one of the most cosmopolitan eating places in the city and one of the most interesting when something of the history of the employees here is discovered, and something is learned of their struggle against odds to get an education.

Time to Stop.

Sinclair Lewis, author of "Main Street," is fond of lecturing as well as writing, and the best story he told us on his arrival here from America referred to an occasion when he was holding forth on the subject of matrimony.

"Mine has been an ideal marriage," he exclaimed (while those whose marriages had not been ideal listened with pained interest). "My wife and I share our sorrows, our joys, our ambitions, our hopes, our—"

Then a Scotsman interrupted: "What about conversation, Mr. Lewis?"

And it is reported that there was considerable silence—London answers.

He Couldn't Tell.

The bus was tilting along at a good speed when an elderly man of ample proportions threw his dignity to the winds by falling into the road in trying to alight while the bus was in motion.

Presently the injured one struggled up and dashed after the vehicle with frantic speed.

"Didn't you see me fall off, conductor?" he shouted.

"Yes, sir."

"Then why didn't you stop?"

"Stop!" ejaculated the conductor.

"How was I to know you wanted to get on and do it again?"—Kansas City Star.

London Police Pay Score.
London's police today costs nearly as much annually as did the whole of the force in England and Wales before the commencement of the war in 1914.

Another Discovery.

A new natural gas field has been discovered in northern Louisiana which is estimated to hold about five trillion cubic feet, making it the greatest natural gas supply yet discovered.

Discovery Credited to Cattle.

It was owing to cattle refusing to drink from an impregnated spring on Epson common in 1818 that Epson salt was discovered. Doctors examined the spring, and in consequence of their verdict all the aristocracy of England were hurrying to Epson a few years later to take the waters.

ALFALFA NOT FITTED
AS CROP FOR SILAGE

Difficult to Handle and Hard to Pack Properly.

Farmer Should Be Able to Determine for Himself Whether or Not He Would Be Justified in Putting His Crop in Silo.

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.)

As a silage crop, alfalfa is not altogether a success. In fact, where other crops, well fitted for this method of preservation, can be grown profitably it is seldom advisable to use it for this purpose. One reason corn is so popular for silage is that it yields a large tonnage at one harvesting, something which cannot be said of alfalfa.

Alfalfa is somewhat difficult to handle with ordinary silage machinery, and is hard to pack properly in the silo. It often becomes moldy and silmy, as do various other legumes, when put up in this way. Special care must be taken in packing this silage because of the high percentage of protein in it which causes it to putrefy instead of ferment when too much air is present.

There are times, however, when alfalfa may be made into silage, for instance, when weather conditions are unfavorable for the curing of hay. Good silage may be made from partially wilted alfalfa if it is cut fine enough and well packed. If it is partly cured before running through the cutter some added water may improve the silage, but experience has shown that a "washy" silage may result if freshly cut alfalfa is put up while wet with rain. Under reasonably favorable conditions alfalfa can be made into hay at less expense than into silage.

Alfalfa and corn mixed make good silage. The corn adds the sugar and starch necessary for the right fermentation. For the same reason the mixing of sorghums or small grains with the alfalfa improves the silage. The addition of crude molasses to alfalfa also increases the chances of producing a good quality of silage. The United States Department of Agriculture has made some preliminary experiments which indicate that good silage can be made by mixing straw of any of the small grains with alfalfa, if the mixing is done as the material passes through the cutter and water is added to make it pack well.

Although alfalfa is not an ideal silage crop, it makes a nutritious silage when properly handled. With all the facts in mind, says the Department of Agriculture, the farmer should be able to judge for himself whether or not he should put his crop in the silo.

POP CORN UNCERTAIN CROP

Cost to Produce Is Considerably Higher Than Ordinary Field Corn—Average Is Low.

Pop corn grown in 1922 is not marketable until June, 1923, and is a very uncertain crop for the average farmer to grow who is not in touch with the market. The average yield on the 13,000 acres grown last year was 26 bushels per acre. It costs considerably more to produce a bushel of pop corn than a bushel of field corn, and under present conditions it appears that unless a man has been growing this crop for a number of years and is reasonably sure of being able to find a good market he better not grow it this year.

CARING FOR ASPARAGUS BED

Yield and Quality of Crop Depend Greatly on Cultivation and Fertilizer Given.

Cultivate and fertilize the asparagus bed so that the crowns may develop properly during the summer and be able to produce a heavy crop of shoots next summer. Remember that the yield and quality of the asparagus depend largely upon the treatment given the asparagus this year.

COMBATING GARDEN INSECTS

Farmer Should Provide Himself With Supply of Arsenate of Lead and Slaked Lime.

Provide yourself with some powdered arsenate of lead and slaked lime for combating biting garden insects, such as potato bugs. Secure a small bottle of nicotine sulphate (black leaf 40) for sucking insects such as meadow aphid or plant lice.

Old English Superstition.

HUES OF RAINBOW MAN-MADE SUITS

Wave of Color Feature of Season's Wearing Apparel.

Tailored Garments Are Back in the Fashion Picture.

Suits, Coats, Wash Dresses, Blouses, Mediums for Exploitation of the Gayest Shades.

All Makers Now Agree on the Short Jacket Outfit, Paris Correspondent Says.

A wave of color surges everywhere in fashions, until it seems as if we must almost have reached the high tide, says a fashion authority. While even the tailored suit and street coats have their share of brilliant shades in the way of trimmings, wash dresses and blouses are wonderful mediums for exploiting the hues of the rainbow. Here the designer has great latitude in the way of background to offset her art work.

The white blouse alone is capable of any amount of amplification through gay trimmings cleverly applied. The past two years have seen marvelous development in the colorings brought out in wash fabrics. In these alone there is a multitude of variations in art tones. There are brilliant reds, all the tones seen in the flames of a wood fire, and browns, yellows and blues without number. The wonderful embroideries made prominent through the Russian vogue made their first appearance on blouses. Here we see the strong peasant colors which are most effective on a background of coarse linen, although they are used on silks and even on thinner fabrics.

In the form of blouses we have almost as much variety as there is in color. A very large proportion of the new blouses are Russian. The Japanese feeling is not lacking, for those with kimono sleeves in flowing style are easily traced to the land of the cherry blossom.

There is a kinship between all articles of dress, so we see separate blouses gathered to a band which comes about the hips of the wearer, the blouse itself falling in loose folds above this band. These are very like the coats of many of the new suits. These hip bands, to which the lower edge of the blouse is gathered, are a means of introducing a great deal of needlework. The art of all nations has been lavishly drawn upon to furnish patterns from which needlewomen may copy. For instance, one such band is worked with Egyptian figures, another in Chinese landscapes. Necklines and sleeves remain much the same; the chief change is in the arrangement at the bottom of the blouse and in the colors and trimmings.

The tailored suit for the last two years has been pushing itself back into fashion's realm, declares a Paris fashion correspondent in the New York Tribune. During the years of war this fashion almost died out, owing to the dearth of men workers on women's garments. Now there is seemingly an energetic and resourceful group of ladies' tailors back in the field, and with masculine force and virility they have pushed to the front and proclaimed themselves by the heralding of this new fashion.

The short-jacket suit is sponsored by all of the best makers. One of the smartest models has a loose box jacket and a directoire draped skirt and is developed in navy blue serge with a blouse of red crepe georgette.

Jenny for years has shown a great liking for white pique as a neck and sleeve finish on her suits. One of the best among her recent models is of black broadcloth trimmed with black braid. The collar and revers are of white pique stitched in red and black.

Color is very pronounced throughout the new clothes, and suits are no exception. Lanvin makes a suit of blue serge with short belted Suit of Black Broadcloth Trimmed With Black Braid; Collar and Revers of White Pique.

Jacket. The novel feature is a trimming in the form of small petal-like pieces cut from India print or calico in the well known red prints. The pockets are formed of a succession of these petals, five petals in the first row, which makes the top of the pocket, and four in the next, then three, then two, with one forming the point.

MANY COLORS IN MILLINERY

Great Variety of Tints Used in Season's Headgear—Conservative Shades in Demand.

As far as hats are concerned it is a colorful spring. One finds almost any color permissible. There are pink, white and the blues, yellow shades called canna and pumpkin red shades which range from apple blossom pink through the rust and henna shades to real flame, and lovely clear light greens are often trimmed with gray. Of course when it comes down to facts conservative shades are selling best. Black lends with navy and brown shades second. Henna shades are in good demand too.

Fruits are well thought of for the spring. Grapes are especially in keeping with the hats worked out in fashion colorings. Some of the hats show lacquered black flowers and black crepe embossed ribbon.

FOR PRACTICAL HOUSE FROCK

Black Satene, With Colored Applique Work or Wool Embroidery Makes Smart Outfit.

Black satene is used to make charming house frocks this season, with colored applique work forming the trimming, or perhaps a heavy wool embroidery giving a decorative touch, and the well-known old reliable unbleached muslin gains in favor for the purpose season after season.

Unbleached muslin house dresses and work aprons are trimmed very effectively in checked or striped gingham, in embroidery or in applied motifs, and these garments will stand the hardest sort of wear and tear and innumerable launderings.

Another fabric much favored is heavy cotton crepe. The same trimming used for unbleached muslin is applied to the crepe and with equally good effect.

Unmarried Americans.

Upwards of 1,800,000 men and women over forty-five in the United States are unmarried. More than 100,000 men about 76 are listed as bachelors, and nearly an equal number of women 64 years of more, also are unmarried.

When white chiffon is used for a kiddie's party frock, and frill upon frill adorns the skirt, there is little other than a rosette or two needed to complete this most cherished item of a child's wardrobe.

CREPE DE CHINE BLOOMERS

Petal Points Instead of Petticoats, Latest in Underthings for Midday Wear.

Petal points instead of petticoats. That is the latest translation in underthings developed in the showings. Paris is credited with having originated the idea, which is carried out by means of a crepe de chine bloomer. The garment is quite short and without elastic at the knee. Stitched on at a point a little below the waist line, are petal points of georgette, in matching or contrasting colors. These points fall gracefully below the hem of the bloomer and serve in reality as a petticoat. They are especially adaptable for wear with chiffon evening frocks.

Another whimsy in underthings is found in colored crepe de chine garments with cretonne appliques in the shape of flowers in the natural flower colorings.

Voile of Fine Mesh.

In spite of the many new and attractive meshes which are being shown in voile, the mesh most often seen is the very one with small chenille dots thickly inset. The body of the veil is most often white with a dot harmonizing in color with the costume.

Hand-Painted Organdie Hats.

Even organdie hats are to be hand painted and embroidered this summer, whispers Dame Rumor. White and pastel organdies certainly make an ideal background for delicate designs.

Yule for Christmas.

"Yule" is the old name for Christmas, and is still used in Scotland and the north of England, and retained in the term "Yule-log." It was originally in England and Scandinavia the festival of the winter solstice.

Hair Often Ruined By Careless Washing

Soap should be used very carefully. If you want to keep your hair looking its best. Most soaps and prepared shampoos contain too much alkali. This dries the scalp, makes the hair brittle, and ruins it. The best thing for steady use is Mulisid coconut oil shampoo (which is pure and greaseless), and is better than anything else you can use. Two or three teaspoonfuls of Mulisid in a cup or glass with a little warm water is sufficient to cleanse the hair and scalp thoroughly. Simply moisten the hair with water and rub it in. It makes an abundance of rich creamy lather, which rinses out easily, removing every particle of dirt, dandruff and excess oil. The hair dries quickly and evenly, and it leaves the scalp soft, and the hair fine and silky, bright, lustrous, fluffy and easy to manage. You can get Mulisid coconut oil shampoo at any pharmacy. It's very cheap, and a few ounces will supply every member of the family for months. Be sure your druggist gives you Mulisid.—Advertisement.

LIGHT VOTE IN IRISH ELECTION

No Serious Disorders—Everybody Satisfied With New Constitution but De Valera and His Friends.
By Telegraph to The Freeman.
Dublin, June 15.—The Irish Free State is engaged today in the double task of conducting its first free election and scrutinizing the new Irish constitution granting Ireland more political liberty than any other British dominion.

Early polling was light and no serious disorders had been reported up to noon.
Eamonn de Valera was absent from home, but members of the Irish Republican brotherhood announced that they were planning a fight against Michael Collins and Arthur Griffith, indicating that the followers of De Valera will make a fight against the amended constitution. On the whole, however, the public seems entirely satisfied.

PHOENICIA.

Phoenicia, June 15.—Mr. and Mrs. Madison Longyear celebrated their golden wedding June 12th. They received a great company of friends and neighbors in the reception hall and enjoyed the spirit of the occasion. Their pretty home was very inviting with the strands of yellow overhead and flowers with June's gift of roses decorating tables and mantel. Their three sons, Ralph, Abe and Cornell and wives and daughter, Mrs. Shurtler several grandchildren, one great grand child and cousins were there. The Baptist Aid Society of which Mrs. Longyear has been a faithful and sincere member so long, attended in a body. The friends in esteem brought a fine variety of gifts all bearing the line of the occasion in one form or other besides there were several gold pieces varying in value. Dainty refreshments were served. Mr. and Mrs. Longyear have enjoyed the home and church life in a Christian walk together all these years. The mission cause has been dear to their heart and calls have received their response. Congratulations were extended and the wish is that together they may still pass many idle stones. The Sewing Class and Basketball Club tendered Miss Nelly Clancy a shower Friday evening, June 9th, in honor of her coming marriage to T. J. McGrath. Other friends joined in with the clubs and went in a body to the home of Miss Clancy. A large company enjoyed the very tempting refreshments. She received a large assortment of presents. Miss Clancy has a large circle of friends and is held in high esteem by all. She is one possessing a fine Christian character. The Rev. and Mrs. Meeker, Mr. Loomis, Mrs. Hoyt, Mrs. Van Stoen, Mr. and Mrs. Horst, Mrs. Van Stoen, Mr. and Mrs. Mary, Beniah Short, Nancy Merrihew, Mrs. Clancy,
